New Castle Elks Observing Golden Jubilee Of Lodge

Program Is Inaugurated This Afternoon—Many Visitors From Other Cities

LARGE CLASS IS BEING INITIATED

Banquet At 6 To Be One Of Chief Features—Concludes With Grand Ball

With visiting Elks attending from neighboring cities, members of the New Castle Lodge of Elks, No. 69, today are participating in one of their most momentous celebrations in many years—their lodge's golden jubilee!

It was 50 years ago last August 31 that Lodge 69 was founded, but the celebration of the half century of community service was delayed until today.

Crowd At Elks Home

The Elks home at North Mill and Falls street is crowded. From 2 this afternoon until after midnight tonight the anniversary events will be in full swing.

The formal reception of a huge class of candidates which will be initiated this afternoon was scheduled for 2 o'clock, to be followed by the formal initiation of the "golden anniversary class." Officers of the New Castle lodge, headed by Exalted Ruler Edmund B. Connelly, will be in charge.

"Elkdom and You" is the topic of the message the class of 47 candidates will hear when C. W. Herman Hess, past district deputy grand exalted ruler of Elks and a past exalted ruler of the local lodge, speaks at the close of the initiatory exercises.

Throughout the late afternoon, following the initiation events, groups will pass the time informally.

Dinner At 6 Tonight

Tonight at 6 in The Castleton comes the golden anniversary dinner, perhaps the highlight of the day.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

The wild-goose has been going south by air and the man-goose by trailer, according to observations of New Castleites who have been keeping their weather eyes peeled for signs of winter. Most of the wild geese have checked out, but the trailerites are checking into New Castle in increasing numbers, as the route through this city is a popular one. All kinds of trailers have been seen recently from the more elaborate to the home-made contraption with an old joint of stove pipe sticking through the roof.

This is the season of the year when the average man's thoughts turn to turkey as easily as the young man's thoughts to love in the spring. Anybody can think about a turkey for Thanksgiving, but it takes mazuma to put the turk on the dinner table. Those who are centering their thoughts on turkeys are cheered by reports that the crop is going to be large, not here in Lawrence county, but elsewhere. Most people don't care much where a turkey is raised, just so they can raise the turkey.

British Visitor Has Series Of "Talks" With Leaders Of Germany, Today

By PIERRE J. HUSS

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—Intent on improving Anglo-German relations no matter how reluctantly the Nazis respond to his wooing, Viscount Halifax plunged today into a series of "talks" with Foreign Minister Baron Konstantin von Neurath and Col.-Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, the British statesman's "official" host.

The fiction is still being preserved that Lord Halifax, British lord president of the council, is here to admire the Berlin hunting exhibition. In view of this, Goering is acting as host in his capacity as Reich forest master and master of the hunt.

But the fact that Goering is also Reich air minister, premier of Prussia, head of the four-year-plan and Chancellor Hitler's right-hand man—to mention only a few of his titles and duties—means that the conversations he holds with Halifax be-

Pinchot Likely To Make Race For Governor

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 18.—Barring concentrated primary opposition, former Gov. Gifford Pinchot will become a "lone wolf" candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in 1938, it appeared today.

While it was learned he has not made a final decision, sources close to Pinchot were betting "100 to 1" he would run "by himself" for the office he has occupied twice before.

It was definitely established that Pinchot will not consider becoming a candidate for any office but that now occupied by Gov. George H. Earle. Recently, rumors to the effect the squire of Grey Towers was planning to run for the U. S. Senate were circulated in Harrisburg and Washington, D. C.

Farm Bill To Be Reported To Senate Monday

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The stalement over an administration agriculture program was broken in the senate today when the agriculture committee announced it would definitely report a comprehensive farm bill on Monday.

At the same time, Senator Smith, (D) of South Carolina, chairman of the committee, announced he will confer with Majority Leader Barkley in an attempt to recess the senate until Monday to permit senators conducting the anti-lynching filibuster to "sit in" on the closing phases of the bill.

Will Be Distributed In New Castle Early In Coming Month

Mailmen working out of the New Castle post office will be more than ordinarily welcome on their rounds the first few mornings in December. They will have in their packs checks which will total $213,000, the total of Christmas Savings funds in three New Castle banks for the year.

Officials of the Union Trust, Lawrence Savings and Trust and Peoples Bank today made public the totals of their funds for the year. They are, Union Trust, $100,000; Lawrence Savings and Trust, $98,000, Peoples Bank, $15,000.

Over the years the Christmas Savings funds have become an established institution among the people of this city as they have all over the nation. A trifle each week means a sizeable check for Christmas spending.

U. S. Gunboats Go To Nanking To Aid Evacuation Of Nationals If Necessary

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, Nov. 18.—Chinese troops fled from Soochow today, according to Japanese commanders, as Nippon's mighty army rolled along three routes toward the city—key point in the Chinese "Hindenburg line" defending menaced Nanking.

Japanese officials claimed their fast-moving forces occupied Mengchiagnmaio, mid-way between Kunshan and Soochow as the defenders fled to the north.

The Chinese retreat was revealed by Japanese reconnaissance planes as Nipponese authorities here claimed still another victory along the new battle line, capture of Tashing, 62 miles northwest of Shanghai.

Charge Homes Looted

In Shanghai irritation among foreigners against the Japanese flamed anew with charges that Japanese troops had looted American and British homes in and near the international settlement.

Americans and Britons who own homes along Hungjao road in the residential area claimed their houses had been entered and pilfered by Japanese forces. The charges were made after the Americans and Britons succeeded in visiting their property this morning.

They declared the Japanese soldiers ignored notices posted on the houses, forbidding them to enter foreign property.

Meanwhile, for the first time, an official Japanese estimate of Japanese casualties in the Shanghai area fighting was released today.

This estimate said losses suffered by the Japanese army in and around Shanghai from Aug. 23 to Nov. 15 amounted to 9,760 killed and 29,850 wounded. Recently an official Red Cross estimate placed Chinese casualties on all fronts in the Sino-Japanese war at 800,000 killed and wounded.

Activity Renewed

Japenese activity was renewed in South China with an attempt to destroy the vital Canton-Kowloon railway. Japanese warplanes, taking off from aircraft carriers, ranged far inland, raining tons of explosives on railroad tracks and terminals.

The junction and station towns of Pingwu and Pingtongwai suffered severe aerial bombardments and were seriously damaged. Scores of residents were reported killed or wounded.

Big Order For Local Plant

Seventy-Five Carloads Of Brick To Be Made Here For Penn State Buildings

The Pearson Brick Company plant here will manufacture between 70 and 75 railroad carloads of face brick for two of the new buildings on the Pennsylvania State College campus, it became known today.

The local firm had been awarded a contract for almost 1,000,000 brick for both the new women's dormitory and the new activities building. Shipment of brick is starting immediately.

The plant here will be kept operating for several months on the college contract, it was said.

Another Strike At Pontiac, Mich.

(International News Service)

PONTIAC, Mich., Nov. 18.—Further straining relations between the C. I. O.'s United Automobile Workers union and the General Motors corporation, a sit-down strike today closed the Fisher Body and Pontiac Motors plants of the corporation here, throwing between 12,500 and 14,000 men out of work.

It was the third strike to hit the factories of the world's largest automobile company in three days, and the sixth labor dispute involving the U. A. W. in the industry since November 2. It was estimated that automobile workers have lost more than $350,000 in wages so far this month because of the new labor troubles.

Five Thousand Officers Hunt Kidnap Fugitive; Two Of Pals Captured

(International News Service)

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 18—"We'll see you in Alcatraz, Geary."

That significant message of prophecy and warning was voiced today for the ears and eyes of little "Angel Face" Percy Geary by Harold "Red" Crowley and John Oley, back again in the hands of the law after their brazen break at Onondaga county jail.

It was a warning to Geary that surrender might be preferable to the "shoot to kill" orders of police, a prophecy that the rat-like cleverness of the prison-break "brains" was no match for the 5,000 peace officers with only one order—to bring in Geary dead or alive.

Still on the loose was Geary but investigators who swarmed over the entire city were confident they would turn him up or get a break as they did on the capture of the other two who were turned in by Ivan Whitford, a rooming house janitor. Geary

Campaign In Congress To Aid Business Revival Steadily Gains Momentum

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—The campaign in congress to aid revival of business gained momentum today as the Roosevelt special session program was still bogged in both branches.

Further modification of business tax laws was considered by the house tax sub-committee, as plans were quietly devised for an economy fight in an effort to balance the budget.

Leaders apparently frowned upon investigations and other moves which might fighten business and bring about a further recession, while liberal members impatiently withheld their fire.

No Progress In Session

The senate was still throttled by the anti-lynching filibuster while the house, with no business on hand turned to partisan debate

The attitude of Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, as indicated by Senate leaders who conferred with him, encouraged those members who are fighting for measures to aid business. He indicated opposition to new taxes which would hamper production, and favored strict economy.

The farm program was stalled in both senate and house agricultural committees while the fate of the wage-hour bill apparently depended upon the result of the fight to force a house vote by the petition method.

Chairman Vinson (D) of Kentucky of the house tax sub-committee was jubilant over the extensive revision of the capital gains and loss tax worked out by his sub-committee.

Convinced Blunder Made

Treaury officials will submit estimates on the loss of revenue resulting from the proposed sliding scale of exemptions from the undistributed profits tax. Rep. Treadway (R) of Massachuetts, claimed the administration was accepting Republican views in modifying the profits tax.

Dentist Pulls Infected Tooth Today, Has Slight Fever, Gastro Disorder

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—President Roosevelt remained in bed today for the third consecutive day, running a slight temperature from an infected tooth.

The tooth was pulled this morning in an abcessed condition which the dentist said now would rapidly clear up.

In addition to his tooth trouble the president was also said to have had a slight gastro-intestinal disorder, from which he was recovered.

Although remaining in bed, the president planned to see Postmaster General Farley and acting budget director Bell this afternoon.

The conferences which he had planned with utility executives have gone over until next week. Instead of meeting with the utilities leaders as a group, Mr. Roosevelt now plans to see them individually. Names of those with whom the president will confer were not available at the White House today.

PEIPING, Nov. 18.—German desertion of China in favor of Japan was indicate today when all German military advisers prepared to depart from Nanking with their ambassador.

Report German Advisers Will Quit In China

By JOHN GOETTE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PEIPING, Nov. 18.—The courageous defense of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek against the juggernaut of Japan's military might received a possibly fatal body blow today when his German army advisers prepared to abandon their seemingly hopeless task.

With the Nipponese army advancing steadily in Nanking, the central government capital, and foreign embassies and nationals preparing to evacuate as a measure of safety, word of the German defection reached here through elated Japanese sources.

Every member of the German military mission which for months has been supervising the training of China's armies and which built up the strategy enabling Shanghai to hold out for weeks against the Japanese invaders is preparing to leave the capital.

Hopes had been held out by Chiang and his aides that the German advisers would remain even though the Reich ambassador decided to move his headquarters from the city.

Latest word received here stated Chiang's own military chieftains will remain at Nanking in a desperate effort to rally their forces and stem the Japanese advance. From all indications, however, they will be bereft of the invaluable advice given them heretofore by the German agents.

Trade Alliance Of Far-Reaching Effect Is Near

Announcement Made In London And Washington Simultaneously Today

Hope To Smash Some Of Barriers Blocking World Economic Recovery

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International New Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The United States and Great Britain today prepared to enter into a trade alliance of far-reaching economic and political significance.

The two great English-speaking democracies announced simultaneously in Washington and London that a basis has been reached for a reciprocal trade agreement giving most-favored-nation treatment to the commerce between the two countries.

The trade pact is regarded as one of the greatest forward steps to smash the barriers blocking world economic recovery. Great Britain is the United States' largest customer.

Political Significance

As great as is its economic importance, the world-wide political significance of the tie between the United States and Britain looms even larger. Politically, it is regarded as democracy's answer to the Fascist alliance concluded between Italy, Germany and Japan at Rome two weeks ago.

Coming at the moment when the United States and Britain are working jointly with other powers at Brussels in an effort to stem Japan's aggressive war in China, announcement of the trade proposal is considered the first major move in erecting a united democratic front against the Fascist bloc.

The United States does not have a reciprocal trade treaty with Germany, Italy or Japan because their nationalistic trade policies oppose the reciprocal trade basic idea.

The trade treaty with Britain will

Republican Party Is Stronger Today Leaders Are Told

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18.—A post-election Republican "clinic" oday left with its more than 200 leaders who assembled for it the assertion by county and city leaders that the party was stronger today because of the last election than its defeat here would indicate.

Republican County Chairman Frank J. Harris told the audience that the Democratic party was not "taking any joy" in its victory because the Republican party was determined to keep it toeing the mark on promises made during the election. That, said Robert N. Waddell, Republican mayoralty candidate, would mean either higher taxes or a large deficit.

Strange Utah Crime Story Revealed

Kills Neighbor; Marries Widow

Widow Believed Husband Had Deserted Her; Unaware Of Any Crime

RUMORS LEAD TO ACTION BY POLICE

(International News Service)

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Nov. 18—A tale as weird as any movie mystery, of how a man assertedly killed his rancher-neighbor and then married the slain man's widow as his "duty" was being unraveled today.

In a St. George, Utah jail, Charles Bosshard, 25 year old farmer, told the fantastic story.

Almost three years ago at Enterprise on the edge of the Great American desert, 300 miles south of here, Sheriff Antone B. Prince reported he confessed a killing which has baffled officers since March 17, 1935.

Tells Of Crime

Later in the Salt Lake County jail, George Schaeffer, 32 recounted how he and Bossahrd dumped the body of Spencer Malan, Enterprise rancher, into an old abandoned well after Bosshard had killed him in a fight.

Mrs. Malan, not suspecting her husband had been slain, obtained a divorce a year later on grounds of desertion. Bosshard shortly afterward, married the woman.

"I felt that I was responsible" Bosshard told Sheriff Prince. "I knew that she had to raise Malans' son, now 11 years old, and so I tried to do the best thing. I married her."

Schaeffer assertedly confided in his wife that he had taken part in the crime, and Mrs. Schaeffer told others. The rumor spread. Sheriff Prince began an investigation that ended in Bosshard's arrest.

He said Tokyo informed Paris that material intervention by France on the side of China, such as arms shipments, would result in seizure by Japan of Hainan island off the coast of French Indo-China and a possible blockade of Indo-China ports.

This statement substantiated previous International News Service dispatches that a virtual Japanese ultimatum forced France to halt arms shipments to China from Indo-China.

Extremely upset by Berenger's awkward disclosures, the foreign office issued a communique denying Japan had delivered any ultimatum to France.

Pa Newc has learned that a lot of people are getting their first grip on a winter cold. There's only one nice thing you can say about a cold. It's something you can give away and still keep. You can hand your cold to a dozen people and have plenty left. This is because colds are contagious, though some dispute that point. Certainly colds can go through a whole family, penetrate a brick wall and break out in the family next door. When you have a cold don't cough around where people congregate, do it on the sly. Nobody wants your cold even if it's free.

Chairman Harrison (D) of Mississippi, of the senate finance committee, indicated that congress may be asked to broaden the individual income tax base or adopt a general manufacturers' excise tax to make up losses caused by revision of the corporation taxes. While he said he did not like to see either action adopted, he indicated he would accept one of them rather than burden business with new taxes. He favored rigid economy to balance the budget.

Meantime, anti-new deal Democrats in the senate, led by Senator Bailey (D) of North Carolina demanded an about-face in administration policies. He called for a new attitude toward labor, utilities and general business as a means of reassuring business.

TRADE ALLIANCE OF FAR-REACHING EFFECT IS NEAR

be the twenty-first such agreement either negotiated or in the process of negotiation by the United States in the past three years. Sixteen trade pacts have been completed; five are in process of negotiation. It will be the major achievement of Secretary of State Cordell Hull's trade program under which he contends a freer flow of international trade is the surest road to a stabilized peace.

Year's Investigation

Announcement of the British-American proposal came today after a year's exploratory investigation. In entering into a reciprocal trade pact with the United States, Great Britain will be voluntarily relinquishing a trade policy in effect with its dominions since 1932. Under the Ottawa agreements, the united kingdom gave preferential treatment to the dominions which were discriminatory to the rest of the world. This was the chief stumbling block in the path of a British-American reciprocal arrangement.

The pact with the united kingdom is expected to open the way for binding all the English-speaking democracies into a trade accord.

Similar trade pacts are contemplated, as a result, with Australia, New Zealand and the union of South Africa, and it is expected that the pact with Canada, which has proved highly fruitful to both countries during the past two years, will be replaced with one of even greater commercial importance.

So far-reaching are the effects of the Anglo-American trade agreement expected to prove in the international field, that a revival in the trade talks with the Argentine republic and Uruguay are envisaged.

These are regarded with particular significance in view of Brazil's establishment of a totalitarian state.

The trade agreement with Britain affects annual trade with the United States of well over a half billion dollars.

The exact basis of the contemplated agreement and the goods to be affected will not, according to the state department, be decided until after public hearings are held.

London, Nov. 18.—Decision of the United States and Great Britain to negotiate a reciprocal trade pact represents a forward step toward a general Anglo-American agreement, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain told the house of commons today.

REPORT CHINESE FORCES FLEEING FROM SOOCHOW

the invaders' push against Nanking and provoked bloody fighting around Kashing, 50 miles west of here.

Chinese General Chang Fah-Kwei, commander of the "ironsides division," launched the counter-drive east of the main defense line while Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek poured 150,000 fresh troops into the struggle.

May Evacuate Nanking

At the same time, the United States gunboats Luzon and Oahu steamed to Nanking to aid the gunboat Panay in evacuating the American embassy staff and United States civilians from the threatened capital, if flight from Nanking proves necessary.

Chiang prepared to resign from presidency of China's executive Yuan—the so-called premiership—to devote himself completely to directing his armed forces in defense of the capital. It was expected Finance Minister H. H. Kung would take over Chiang's government post with headquarters at Hankow, 300 miles inland.

Japanese sources said this move was aimed at making Kung the "goat" when the war reached the negotiation stage—at which time the Japanese expect to do most of the heavy talking. Chinese officials, however, remained unperturbed, remembering Chiang in the past has relinquished government titles—but still kept his position as big boss.

LORD HALIFAX PREPARES FOR HITLER PARLEY

tween ceremonial trips to the exhibition will carry plenty of punch.

Prepare For Visit To Hitler.

These conversations, in fact, are intended to pave the way for Lord Halifax' visit with Hitler at Berchtesgaden tomorrow, when the Briton and Fuehrer will get down to a brass tacks discussion—informal, of course, authorities insist—on how the Reich and England can become friendly partners in Europe's bed of thorns.

Hitler is expected to tell his visitor just what price Germany demands for "appeasement" of central Europe—a price understood to include return of all or part of the Reich's pre-war colonies.

This demand, and various others revolving around it, are expected to prove subjects of close diplomatic horse-trading, and may be somewhat modified as the "talks" progress, but Hitler is represented as determined not to retreat from certain already well defined minimum stipulations.

Meanwhile, Germany is maintaining an attitude of outward reserve toward Lord Halifax, since Reich authorities want to know exactly what questions he plans to ask before greeting him with open arms. It is felt here that this is no time for a series of embarrassing queries.

Nevertheless, observers believe that between visits to the hunting exhibition and in his visit with Hitler the British emissary's activities here will go far in deciding future Anglo-German relations and in determining whether Europe's immediate road leads in the direction of appeasement or war.

Lord Halifax is expected to invite Von Neurath to continue the discussion at a later date in London.

In the public school system of the United States there are more than 1,000,000 evening students, 250,000 in part-time continuation schools, and 500,000 in summer schools.

INDIGNATION BEGINS AT HOME

THE entrance of the United States into the World War can be accredited largely to our indignation at the acts of Germany and her allies. It is true that certain overt acts precipitated our declaration of war, but the way for our entrance was paved by slick propaganda which appealed to our sense of indignation.

The same kind of propaganda is being spread today, and once again Americans are indignant. We shudder at reports of the slaughter of women and children in China. We are shocked by the gruesome tales emanating from Spain. The stories of hunger and lack of shelter by the victims of war are apt to lead us into pleas for action abroad.

This trait of sympathy in the American people naturally is praiseworthy. But we believe that moral indignation, like charity, should begin at home.

Distasteful as it may be to learn, there are sections of the United States where conditions are no better than in war-torn China asserts the McKeesport News. The paper continues: The sharecroppers of our Southland could change places with the Chinese civilians, and they would note little difference in living conditions. The women and children of New York's East Side and the slums of America's other large cities are hardly the source of envy by war victims in China and Spain.

A missionary in the sharecropper region—and it is significant that parts of this country should be so primitive as to be missionary fields—reports that hundreds of people there have never owned store-bought clothes or garments made from fabrics intended for clothing. From 15 to 20 persons live in some New York tenements which, if fit to live in at all, should accommodate no more than two or three. We do not have to go even that far to find conditions which, if they existed in other countries, would arouse our indignation to a fever pitch.

If we must be indignant, let's not look across the seas for reasons. If we must fight, let's make the sharecropper regions and the slums our battlefields. That's the kind of war which ends successfully, and every offensive brings gain, not destruction.

AMERICA'S ALLIES, THE OCEANS

In suggesting that the United States erect a monument to "its greatest real friends and allies—the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans"—American Legionnaires of Norfolk, Virginia, give a practical twist to a thought so frequently expressed by their countrymen.

This nation is indeed fortunate in its geographical remoteness from quarters of the globe that are now undergoing the horrors and tribulations of war, or are in dread suspense lest such disasters befall them.

Yet the three thousand miles of blue water did not save us from the greatest conflict in history, and since that time distances both east and west have been substantially shortened by man's ingenuity and daring. The Far East is not so far as it was. Europe believes that our neighborliness should extend to the point of promoting her peace even at imminent risk to our own.

The Atlantic and Pacific are good friends of America. But we must not place too much confidence in their role as protectors of our peaceloving people.

CONCERNING OUR YOUNG CRIMINALS

One of the larger American cities finds that more than a fourth of the persons arrested for crime this year are youths of 18 or less. In the same community more than half the people tried for felonies in recent years are in the age group of 18 to 25.

These figures match pretty well those reported for other cities. They show with appalling clearness that the bulk of present-day criminals are young people, mere boys and girls of high school and college age, or a little more.

They show another thing, which becomes apparent when you think it over. When were these young criminals born? During the war or shortly after. They are a war brood. In their souls is the savagery of that conflict, which in itself was the greatest crime of modern civilization.

What else could we expect? As it was said of old, "The fathers have eaten sour grapes and the children's teeth are set on edge." There was a great relaxing of moral restraint. The world atmosphere into which they were born was poisoned. Their unstable minds and perverted standards are the result. It is so in all that countries involved in that war.

BUCKWHEAT CAKES

What has become of old-fashioned American buckwheat flour cakes? The kind that takes time, thought and culinary skill to make.

Many of those now graying at the temples remember with hungry relish the kind of pancakes that their mothers and grandmothers used to make. There is nothing quite like them now. In fact, in the cities it is virtually impossible to buy the old-fashioned ingredient. When you do get them it is just as difficult to find some one with the skill and patience to make them.

In those older days the buckwheat batter used to be mixed up as soon as the crop has been threshed and taken to the grist mill. And there always was batter. It was just added to every time any was used. The batter bucket stood in the pantry ready to meet any emergency and any demand, no matter how great.

The cakes were brought into the breakfast table in steaming piles. On the table there would be a heaping dish of sausage. When it was cooked the fat just oozed out. The buckwheat cakes were piled on the individual plates. No sissy molasses was good enough for them.

Instead the grease from the sausage was dipped over the cakes from the platter, and then was there a feast. Those who have never tasted real old-time buckwheat cakes have missed one of the great American breakfast delights. Another generation will not even have heard of them!

Uncertainty as to the course we should follow with respect to Japan continues. Why not show our displeasure by giving back her cherry trees?

Say one thing for old men. After you see the world saved and ruined many times, you quit getting frantic.

The Parent Problem

TRAINING CHILDREN TO READ

Most education in our schools and colleges has to do with books. Books are our leading tools of learning. They also afford much enjoyment.

No one needs to be rich in order to have about as many books to read as he wishes. Thanks to our public libraries, books are free to practically every one. Yet it is surprising how little time the average person spends with books during his lifetime. Judging from the large number of books of inferior sort that are sold and rented at the corner drug store, the average person does not, in spite of all the fine expert guidance at his disposal, select books very wisely.

How does it happen that the average person who, during all his school life, was exercised in reading from carefully selected books, is inclined to choose for leisure reading, after he leaves school, an inferior book or none at all? Certainly he is not prone to read for pleasure many of the books from which he had read and studied while in school and college. It seems that we have not yet learned how to make the boy and girl, man and woman while at school or college, want to go on reading at a high level after he or she has graduated.

However, there seems to be some encouraging developments in efforts of English teachers to inspire their students to find enjoyment with good books. Yet good literature, like good music, has to compete with the cheap and perishable.

Best Possibility.

Perhaps the biggest possibilities for cultivating love of good books and their reading is in the recent newer emphasis on reading aloud to children, beginning before they are two years old and continuing long past the time when they enter school. Ideally, reading aloud by parents to their children, by all members of the family to one another, indeed, should have no end.

In the home where the parents read to the young child daily, and where there is a happy family relationship, it is easy to cultivate good taste in literature that promises to be lasting. After all, we learn appreciation of good music, art, or literature by being exposed to it in the presence of others who enthusiastically appreciate it.

As you doubtless know, I have tremendous enthusiasm for the program of the internationally famous Mothers' Room of the Youngstown library. Why? Because it has dramatized home reading and has induced hundreds of parents to begin with the baby, and has guided these parents in selection of good materials from which to read to these youngsters. You will find a description of this program in "Birthright of Babyhood", by Clarence Sumner. And in this volume is the best available list of books from which to read to the young child.

It's Dangerous To Play TOO Safe

DO YOU OWN an automobile? If you do, do you use it or do you leave it in the garage?

Are you afraid you'll get it scratched on a mountain road or bumped on the highway—afraid you'll burn out a bearing or puncture a tire when you're away from home? Or do you leave it in the garage because it's too precious a possession and cost you too much money?

"What nonsense!" you sneer. "How silly I'd be to do that. The tires would rot right there in the garage, even if the wheels never turned. The model would get out of date. The value would depreciate every year I owned it and in five or six years I couldn't get much more for it than my next door neighbor would receive after he has run his car all over the country and seen everything from British Columbia to Florida. Only a crank would do a thing like that with an automobile."

At the hospital one day a veteran medico discussed matters with a number of young internes, who were glad to get the benefit of his experience. As he was about to leave he decided he would drop a bit of good advice to them.

"Young men, I would like to leave with you a thought that should prove of value," he said. "I have been practicing now for many years and I find the best possession a man can have is an easy conscience. Every Monday I go to my office an hour ahead of time and shut myself in my private sanctum. Then I go over all the happenings of the preceding week to see if I have done anything wrong. If I find, after mature study, that I have charged a patient too much I immediately write him a check to reduce the bill to the proper amount."

"How often have you had to send out those checks?" asked one interne.

Dear Miss Markel: Please give advice on teaching a maid to serve dinner. I have not seen this subject included in your column.

NEWLYWED.

Answer: Several months ago, this subject was included in my column but for the benefit of those who missed it (and judging from my mail many have) I repeat:

After the table is set, have your maid fill the water goblets just before the guests are called in to dinner.

When the guests are seated, she should bring each item of food in separately—including the meat, if it has been carved in the kitchen—and then the vegetables.

Serving dishes should be held on a folded napkin in the waitress' left hand. Her right hand will then be free to steady the dish while guests help themselves to the contents. She should first serve from the left side the woman guest of honor (seated to the right of the host). Service should then proceed to the left, although it may be reversed at every other serving so that the same person will not each time be helped last.

Your maid should, of course, wait until all have finished a course before removing dishes and serving the next course.

Discuss What Session Will Bring Some Probabilities Discussed Believe Taxes Will Remain Up

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

TAKE A LONG-RANGE view of the probable accomplishments of this special session of congress:

TAXES: No relief in prospect. If small businesses are relieved of the undistributed profits' tax, their owners will have to bear the burden in another manner—viz., broader personal income taxes. If money is not "found" in corporation profits, it must be found through a broader income tax base. That means "catching" the average man. Next year is election year. Any congressman voting for a broader income tax base would be defeated.

WHY TAXES MUST "BE FOUND": The relief burden will revert to the federal government. "Home" relief already has failed. People are in dire distress. The situation is acute—and of extreme danger. The federal government may have to "find" and expend on relief this winter one billion dollars that it had not anticipated.

WAGES, HOURS

WAGES AND HOURS: Little hope for this legislation this session. But the bill may take a far more potent turn if the business recession continues. It may turn out to be an Industrial Administration act, with the government having complete authority over all industrial production, competition, hours and wages. Nothing is so intended at the moment—but the situation can develop suddenly. (The supreme court now may be favorable—6-3—on such legislation.)

WHY: Want in the midst of plenty, unbalanced production, unequal conditions because of monopolies, necessity for mass production to get prices down, even if by government subsidy, in order to renew purchasing power to the mass of the population, demand far-reaching measures. (Such are the arguments presented.) This would be a long step toward state (government) capitalism. It may not eventuate. Yet it may—if not now, eventually.

CROP CONTROL

ALL-WEATHER CROP CONTROL PROGRAM: A sharp fight is due over this. Many old-liners desire subsidies without control. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace is sure that this would bankrupt the government. His plan of "ever-normal" granary whereby the government would "regulate" production would guarantee a degree of stability and also provide for the lean years. He may win out.

WHY: Unless the secretary of agriculture gets some sort of control, farm prices will sink to heartrending lows. And, basically, the United States is an agricultural country. If the former suffers, the entire nation is in like distress. Incidentally, Secretary Wallace is eager to do such a successful job on the "ever-normal" granary as to be the "logical" man for the Democratic nomination for president.

REORGANIZATION, PLANNING

REORGANIZATION OF EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS: Some of this may go through. If the government were a private corporation, the president's bill (prepared by non-partisan experts) would go through immediately. Congress does not like it, for it takes away many jobs.

NATIONAL PLANNING FOR BETTER USE OF NATIONAL RESOURCES: Doubtful. Again, non-partisans say it is excellent. But large vested interests see in it "new invasions of business" — particularly electric power—and there is a tremendous lobby against it.

HOUSING

AID TO PRIVATE HOUSING: Even a congress can't lead a horse to water when the horse doesn't believe some hay will follow the water. House development, except by outright government construction, will come only when people can afford to pay the cost and hold on to the houses after they have them. The basic economic questions will have to be settled first.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 18

Once Upon November 18th.—When all the imbroglios over adoption and retention of "Daylight Saving" laws are recalled, it is surprising to realize that standard time was adopted throughout the United States without process of law.

Intolerable confusion was ended when the American Railway Association put a standard timekeeping scheme into effect at noon, 54 years ago today. Canadian railroads took a similar step at the same time. The ARA had taken the initiative after congress failed to act.

The scheme had been worked out by Charles Ferdinand Dowd, when 58 and president of Temple Grove Ladies' Seminary, Saratoga, N. Y. It took him 13 years to convince railroads that it was necessary and feasible. He never received a nickel of monetary reward for his pioneer work, and he was killed by a railroad train.

Until Dowd's time, every town and hamlet had its own time—Sun time for its meridian of longitude—and every railroad operated on what was usually a totally different time, generally taken from the city where its headquarters were. Clocks were still uncommon, as they had been since early days when they were singled out for taxation as luxuries. Those who traveled frequently or had businesses dependent upon rail communications had clocks with several sets of hands, to indicate the separate systems of time affecting them most.

State legislatures and congress considered time standardization plans, but individual states and towns and resisted giving up their time for some other locality's. Railroads finally had to act arbitrarily. Of course, they were denounced by local patriots for their high-handedness.

On Other November 18ths.—1776—Congress voted a national lottery to raise $5,000,000 for the army. It was soon abandoned; but not because of moral considerations. An insufficient number of tickets was sold to make a profit. More than that much now goes out of the U. S. every year for foreign lottery tickets.

1789—Joseph Daguerre was born. A committee was actually appointed to examine his mental condition because of his efforts to have the sun make pictures for him on a chemically treated piece of metal. He was 49 when he became the co-inventor (with Neipce) of what we know as photography.

Dress For Weather Not By Calendar Citizens Are Urged

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18—Forget the calendar and let common sense be your guide in deciding what to wear this winter.

And if you follow that simple suggestion, you'll avoid troublesome colds and more serious respiratory ills, it was pointed out yesterday by Dr. J. Moore Campbell, of the State Department of Health.

Dr. Moore holds no brief for men and women, who, when the calendar records the first day of winter start wrapping themselves up in their heaviest apparel—although a warm sun and autumnal breeze may be prevailing at the time.

Flannel "Silly"

"The unfailing practice of donning flannel underwear on the first day of winter, regardless of what the temperature may be or discarding heavy overcoats with the 'official opening of spring" said Dr. Campbell, "is silly leads to all sorts of complications and is an old-fashioned method which should be discarded by all sensible people."

But Dr. Campbell, who is head of the department's Bureau of Health Conservation, concedes there is no cut-and-dried system of fighting off colds.

"Since there is so much yet to be learned about the cause of colds" said Dr. Campbell, "definite preventives cannot be suggested with any great or certain degree of success.

Dress By Date

"But I'm convinced of one thing" he added "and that is that there's too much dressing by the calendar.

"For example, people put on heavy underwear to sit about in warm or even hot rooms. The bodies become overheated and moist with perspiration. Then they pass into cold corridors or other rooms where the same temperature has not been maintained.

"The result is body chilling, favoring the catching of a cold, I don't believe in the seasonal change of underwear at all.

"In view of the manner in which most establishments are heated today, I believe people should wear the same type of underwear the year around. Outer clothing should be changed according to the variations of temperature and not according to almanac or calendar."

Watch For Germs

Dr. Campbell emphasized that every person who catches cold had a distinct obligation to guard against transmitting the germs to others.

"When we have a cold" he said, "we owe it to our fellows to take elementary precautions to prevent its transmission to others. Cover the mouth when coughing and the nose when sneezing.

"If you are associated with one having a cold be careful that you do not become infected through the spray from the cold victim's mouth. Talking with a person suffering from a cold or even facing him may result in your receiving this germ-laden spray and his cold.

"Remember—colds can be dangerous. They may lead to something much more serious. Taken immediate steps to be cured of a cold as soon as its presence becomes manifest."

do that with an automobile. But many human beings who think they are intelligent do much the same sort of thing with their lives.

They start with a nice new shiny Life that will go anywhere and climb almost any grade and has a wonderful pickup, with fine brakes and sixteen speeds forward—and they leave it in the garage till the tires rot off.

Of course they do live—in a way. They eat and they sleep and they work and they talk and they fill up their days somehow, without ever taking a chance. They walk around the block occasionally but they never get into the country. They keep busy—but you can hardly call it living. And as the years slip away, life depreciates. They have not used it but it loses its value for them. They haven't gone anywhere. They haven't seen anything worth seeing. They haven't filled their lives with memories—of ecstasy or of agony. They haven't made fools of themselves, they haven't suffered. They haven't tried to get anything, they haven't had anything it would have torn them apart to lose.

But some day those foolish, scared-cat "superior" people encounter on the highway of life some ordinary fellow who's taken his life and used it and risked it as it should be risked and has suffered great grief in the risking—but he tells them he doesn't regret a moment of his perilous adventure . . . And when he has finished his tale, they may look at him wistfully, with hungry envy in their eyes, and for just an instant they will see the truth and they will know that all their security is base coin compared with his beautiful commonplace daring.

So they learn when it is almost too late that the most dangerous thing is to try too hard to be safe.

News Briefs From City Hall

Garbage cans should not be locked inside porches according to Superintendent of garbage, Ed Umbright. He said that this has necessitated several visits by garbage bureau employes. The practice became prevalent before Hallowe'en, owing to boys' activties, Umbright stated.

City detectives are trying to discover the person who stole a Davis 12-guage shotgun from the residence of Robert Cage, 455 Neshannock avenue.

Isaac Ghanayem, Ardmore, Pa., a salesman, reported to police he had been bitten by a police dog, owned at 218 East Division street. Police ordered the canine be placed on a leash for observation purposes.

Boys were alleged to have tampered with an auto at 316 Bell avenue last night, according to a report made to police.

Milk thieves are active in Kurtz street, police have been told.

Good for invalids or children is the following: One egg, one teaspoon sugar, juice of one orange, cracked ice. Mix sugar well with yolk of egg, add orange juice and lastly white of egg, beaten stiff. Put some cracked ice in the glass and serve.

Police Cruiser Driver Has Good Safety Record

How would you like to drive a police car, either the patrol, cruiser, special, or any kind of car the police have, for five years in all kinds of weather and do it without so much as scratching a fender?

Very good record, you'll agree. And that is what has been accomplished by Police Cruiser Operator Harry Flinner who was named to the police department by Fred L. Rentz, mayor in 1922.

Driving a police car fast in heavy traffic is no child's play or a job for any excitable person. It may mean that one must operate the patrol at a fast clip when used as an ambulance or in reply to a murder or robbery call.

Yet these are not the only tests of a driver's ability. As a police cruiser operator, they must drive steadily for eight hours whenever one is on the 4 p. m.-midnight or the midnight-8 a. m. turns.

The weather may be nice and again it may not. In fact, there may be fog, sleet-covered streets which mean icy hills, or snow-covered dirt streets with underlying ruts.

Nevertheless, Flinner has driven police cars for five years and today has the record of not having had one accident nor having as much as a fender dented.

Before joining the force Flinner was a tin mill employe. He was named a patrolman and also has operated, at times, in plain-clothes. However, when first named to the force in 1922, he was given an East Side "beat".

Being a big chap, more than six feet tall and weighing 200 pounds, well distributed o'er his six feet and something, he commands an imposing appearance.

In fact, his size demands respect and it wasn't long in the role of an East Side or "Brooklyn" patrolman that he demonstrated without very much trouble that he was "boss".

Following four years service on the East Side, Flinner was transferred to the first ward where there were more police activities south of West Washington street.

Later he was transferred to the fifth and eighth wards beat and with Lieutenant of Police George Kennedy arrested several persons for the sale of narcotics. They were convicted in federal court.

All is not easy with a police cruiser car driver. He and his accompanying officer are the ones to watch homes at night.

Almost nightly they are called upon to settle domestic quarrels.

But as stated before, five years a driver, of different cars and during all kinds of weather, and not a dent fender; well, that's not a safety record to be sneezed at in a town where traffic is heavy.

Tells Importance Of Railroads Here

Sesond Largest Industry, Youngstown Man Declares At Kiwanis

Speaking on "The Railroads as a Community Asset," S. R. Craighead, chief clerk to the division freight agent of the Pennsylvania railroad at Youngstown, told the Kiwanis club the importance of New Castle's four trunk lines to its civic and economic life.

Here to represent the Association of American Railroads, Mr. Craighead, introduced by Charles J. Callahan, Pennsylvania ticket-freight agent here, said in part:

"New Castle is fortunate in that it has available the service of four of the great eastern trunk line carriers—Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio, Erie, New York Central (P. & L. E.) with which you are able to ship and receive overnight to Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Erie, with second morning service to and from Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Md.; third day service is available to and from New England.

"Have you ever considered that the railroads of New Castle represent your second largest industry, being exceeded only by the Carnegie Illinois Steel Corporation in the number of men employed? Fifteen hundred employees in the shops, yards and offices of the railroads here with their families must have a large influence in your community. A payroll of approximately $250,000 per month is involved. A great number of these employees own their own homes and contribute generously to your schools, churches, etc. Railroads alone paid the city of New Castle in school and city taxes during 1936, $8,872.15 with an additional $1,500 being paid to Lawrence county.

"Based on my personal knowledge of Pennsylvania railroad purchases, I would estimate that during 1936, direct purchases by all the railroads from Mahoning-Shenango Valley industries would amount to $10,000,000. Consider, if you please, the number of men this purchasing power kept busy in your industries."

AUTO COLLISION

Anniversary Is Marked By Local P. H. C. Members

Party Last Night In Celebration Of Circle's 51st Birthday

OUT-OF-TOWNERS JOIN IN EVENING

New Castle's Protected Home Circle celebrated its 51st birthday Wednesday night at a gathering in the I. O. O. F. hall. A large crowd of members attended, including visitors from Ellwood City, Sharon, Pittsburgh and Homestead.

The Ellwood City degree team, in new uniforms, initiated a class of candidates in an efficient manner. Numerous state and national leaders were present for the festive anniversary occasion. The following were presented at the altar and then proceeded to stations of honor:

Supreme Vice President Hon. J. A. McLaughry, Supreme Medical Examiner Dr. William G. McLaughry, Supreme Treasurer Harry Moore and Special Deputy Charles Barton, all of Mercer county; Grand Guardian Paul Weichelt of Homestead and New Castle's grand vice president, Belle Kennedy.

All made interesting remarks in the program which followed. Roy Erwin, a member of the local circle, told of the organization's humble beginning on November 30, 1886, with 29 members. In the first 20 years the membership increased to 287. In 1916 it doubled, in 1921 a degree staff was organized, and in 1926 the total membership in the local lodge was 2,600.

Many of the people present last night have been P. H. C. members for 30 or 40 years.

Several mandolin selections were presented on the program; a reading by Edna Mae Hunt and a short skit by Mrs. Marie Roof and Mrs. Pettit. The guardian, Mrs. Helen Ray, and her committee served lunch. A large birthday cake was one of the items on the tasty menu.

On December 1 the local circle will meet again. It will be "past presidents' night".

Parent-Teacher Associations

Routine business was carried out with the chairman of committees reporting. Mrs. F. R. Weisz chairman of the hospitality committee, introduced Rev. and Mrs. Smith. He is the new pastor of the Rose Point Reformed Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Robert Henry, chairman of the program committee, presented the following program: solo, "Forgotten," Mrs. Lester Stoner; address Roy F. Conway, assistant superintendent of Lawrence County schools. Mr. Conway gave an interesting talk on his recent trip to Williamsburg, Virginia the site of William and Mary College.

Other features of the program were music by rooms one and two directed by S. A. Eakin, and the family album, presented by Mrs. F. R. Weisz.

The charge against the horse-and-buggy era is not that it was slow but that so few could afford a horse and buggy.

Westminster Man Is Seing World

Willard George Has Been Around World Twice—Has Had Many Experiences

WILLARD GEORGE

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 18.—At 23, this Westminster college graduate, Willard George, Youngstown, O., has been twice around the world; has cycled through England and Europe; worked on a government geological expedition in Utah and Arizona, where white men had never been before; and last summer "punched cows" in the Black Range mountains of southern New Mexico on the Mexican border.

Sun-tanned, blonde-haired, Willard George, now a student of atmospheric analysis in aviation at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, earned twenty-five dollars a month; chased rustlers; lived on "son-of-a-gun stew" (hoofs, horns, head, and entrails of steers); and chased bear and mountain lions away from a herd of 3,000 cattle, 25 miles from the closest village.

Known as "Bunky" to his Theta Upsilon Omegia fraternity brothers at Westminster, George still hasn't "seen enough of the world," and expects, among other things, to try panning gold on an Alaskan expedition.

SPEAKERS HEARD AT CONSERVATION MEET

Conservation department members of the Woman's club, held an especially interesting meeting in the home of Mrs. E. F. Henderson on Lincoln avenue, Wednesday afternoon, when they had the privilege of hearing as their guest speaker, Andrew Dodds.

Mrs. Ray Horchler, chairman of the department, presided, and following the business session, Mr. Dodds was introduced. He gave a most informative and instructive talk on "Sports vs. Game". It was entertaining as well, as he showed movies of various animals, and different reels of wild life, concerning the beaver, snakes, the rabbit and others. His address was well received by the assemblage.

Another splendid talk on "Do you know the shrubs native to your county?" was given by Mrs. R. A. Eckles in her usual capable manner. She revealed much information that was of interest.

Later, the guests assembled in the dining room, where tea and refreshments were served from an attractively appointed table, with Mrs. F. F. Urey, chairman of the program, pouring. The centerpiece was cleverly carried out in keeping with the program of the day, a miniature scene of wild life being reflected in a mirror, and to the side, was a midget wigwam and Indian village, not forgetting Mr. Turkey, which made his appearance.

The hostess was aided during the day, by Mrs. R. E. Sturdy, Mrs. E. F. G. Harper and Mrs. T. M. Shaffer.

Dreiser Lives Retired Life

Deserts Society For Life With Scientists At "Scientific Monastery"

PEOPLE CHANGE SIGNATURES OFTEN

By O. O. M'INTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Theodore Dreiser seems determined to become an utter recluse from the world. Never a mixer with his fellows, he has for the past 10 years been slowly severing the remaining ties. Only a few established friends see him. And now and then he darts into a midnight movie.

O. O. McIntyre

When he bought an elaborate off-the-main-highway estate deep in the Mt. Kisco hills a few years ago, he bulwarked his increasing isolation. To a pretentious fireside he invited only a select group. His apartment at the uptown Ansonia was closed.

Now Dreiser has deserted Mt. Kisco for what is known as "a scientific monastery" near Cold Springs Harbor, L. I. He is living in a mere shack with bare floor, no pictures on the wall and not any of the modern conveniences, such as telephone and radio.

Other scientists live there for $2 a week. Dreiser has found their companionship stimulating and believes the world of science is the only one wholesome and clean. He is not alone in his about-face and return to the simplicities. Many artists and writers are burrowing back.

No one is more interesting than Dreiser from the sidelines when defending a cause. It's really an act. He is the picture of sullen rage, rocking to and fro and folding and refolding his handkerchief. Now and then he lashes out like a viper's hiss, his go-funny eye fairly glinting rage. No one I have known seems to express such bitterness toward those he thinks have exploited the weak. His early brushes with poverty still rankle, and yet many of us have had the same disillusionments without his unhappy reaction.

The paying teller in a large bank tells me the average person changes his signature several times before reaching 50, but after that it usually remains as is. Yet there always remains distinguishing lines recognizable to the expert. James J. Walker is an accomplished Jimmy the Penman. His chirography suggests a steel engraving. The most difficult to decipher is that of Noel Coward's loop the loop. The most attractive feminine handwriting is that taught and practiced by the fashionable boarding schools near Philadelphia. Old time telegraph operators had a swing that was graceful, and, of course, made for swift writing. Kathleen Norris has mastered a beautiful penmanship, something unusual for those to whom writing is a trade.

During a stretch of newspapering in Dayton, O., years ago, I was, for economic reasons, billeted with a donnish fellow in the dingy room of an equally dingy boarding house on the wrong end of town. Our single light was a gas jet and often I would awaken to see him bending over, writing. He always professed to be making out reports as a salesman. One morning at daybreak there was a commanding knock at the door. I opened it for two derbied gentlemen whom I happened to know at police headquarters. They were looking for my room-mate who was sound asleep. He was a forger, with four convictions, yet only 26 years of age. Evidently forgery is a difficult habit to shake. In the past year the same fellow was emblazoned in the New York newspapers for bouncing rubber checks around a fashionable section of Boston, where he had been quite a one.

Thingumbobs: Edgar Wallace, the mystery story writer, was extremely sensitive about a stone deafness... Lady Astor is a Donald Duck enthusiast . . . Nijinsky, the famous dancer, mind gone, sits day after day at the window of a Swiss sanitarium, rocking a rag doll . . . He does not recognize his wife . . . A movement grows to make organized baseball give Babe Ruth a managerial chance or those fostering it will deny their attendance . . . . Henry Mencken and George Jean Nathan have a cocktail together now and then, but with formality . . . The buck Ward Morehouse killed in an Idaho hunt hangs at "No. 21."

Contributed:
A gent in a bright yellow shirt
And a necktie so purple it hurt;
So I said: "Why, Migawd!
It is certainly Odd."
He showed his green socks and said "Cert."

East Side's New Guessing Game

What street reminds one of sorrow? What thoroughfare suggests worship? What street reminds one of a Big House attendant? What street puts one in mind of falling water? What kind of a thoroughfare would a bird and 2,000 pounds be called and what thoroughfare makes you recall Job. What street was named after our ancestors?

These are questions now being asked as a new game in the city. It is said that this stunt was "invented" by East Siders.

Here are some of the answers, as we collected them:

No. 1, Pine street; No. 2, Temple avenue; No. 3, Butler avenue; No. 4, Cascade street;; No. 5, Croton avenue; No. 6, Boyles avenue, and No. 7, Adams street.

This no doubt is an interesting game. Should one care to peruse the directory or telephone book he could compile a similar type list of questions and answers.

Many Are In Library Book Week Contest

Novel Contest For Junior Library Patrons Is Feature Of Book Week

Quite a large number of visitors to the Junior Department of the public library have already enrolled in the Book Week contest being conducted by Miss Alice Joyce, children's librarian. According to Miss Joyce, a great deal of interest has been shown in this contest, which is part of the local celebration of National Book Week. The contest still remains open for applicants.

The contest consists of a group of 24 pictures. Each picture represents the name of some book in the Junior department. The contestant who has the largest number of book names correct will win the prize offered by Miss Joyce.

The Junior department of the library has a display of new books in the Penn Power Company window. These books may be borrowed by the boys and girls the week following Book Week, according to Miss Joyce.

CONDUCT GAS RATE HEARINGS

District Gas Companies Give Facts At Hearings In Grove City

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, Nov. 18.—Between 40 and 50 officials and attorneys for four small oil and gas companies of western Pennsylvania were here yesterday for an all-day hearing into rates, called by the Public Utility Commission of Pennsylvania. In each case, officials filed financial statements and answered questions put by an attorney for the commission. The hearings were heard by Examiner A. A. Smith.

The Slippery Rock Light & Heat Co., serving 400 consumers in Slippery Rock and Branchton, Butler county, was represented by Vice-President Harry J. Crawford of Emlenton. Mr. Crawford stated that the company owned only shallow wells, and was forced to buy gas from other companies. He gave the concern's valuation as $45,000.

The Lawsonham Oil & Gas Co., serving only 43 consumers in Lawsonham, near Bradford, was represented by F. E. Eckert, president. William H. Locke of Oil City, vice-president, and George E. Welker, Oil City, president, appeared for the Mercer County Oil and Gas Co., serving 500 consumers in the boroughs of Jamestown, Fredonia, Hadley and Osgood; the concern was valued at $69,127. The Bessemer Oil Co., serving 156 consumers in Bessemer boro, Lawrence county, was represented by William Hedagore, Bessemer, president; Leonard Shelley, Grove City, vice-president, and Leonard Levison, Pittsburgh, secretary-treasurer.

CARNEGIE-ILLINOIS NEWS

Happenings And Items Of Interest At Big Tin Plate Plants Here.

WHY THE PICKLING DEPARTMENT IS MOST IMPORTANT
By the Pickling Department Organization

One of the most important processes in the manufacture of tin plate occurs in the black and white pickling department.

After the hot rolled sheets have been sheared and opened, they are piled neatly in tyo piles on trucks and hauled by tractor to the pickling rooms.

In the rolling operations, an oxide and scale forms on the black sheets which is removed in the pickling process by use of diluted sulphuric acid. If the sheets are not thoroughly cleaned, or pickled, the sheets will not coat uniformly in the tinning or coating operation, thereby causing a "second."

After pickling, the sheets are piled on stands and covered with a steel covering and hauled by crane to the annealing furnaces.

After black annealing, cold rolling and white annealing, the sheets are received at the white pickling, where they are again pickled to clear them of scale or foreign particles accrued in the annealing process. The sheets are then placed in boshes and hauled to the tin stacks for coating.

There are 64 men employed in the pickling department who must exercise extreme caution to avoid acid burns and falls which might occur due to splashing of water on floor plates. In addition to these hazards, care must also be exercised in handling the sharp edged sheets from trucks to cages and from cages to benches. However, to give you an idea of the "Safety-Consciousness" of these men they have accumulated their present safety record of 1453 consecutive days without a lost time accident.

TAPPING THE TROPICS

Upon looking out over the snow covered ground the other morning, we mentioned the fact that it would be a good time to be lying under a palm tree gazing out over a serenely tropical scene—this being a far-fetched illusion on our part.

However, few people would associate palm trees with steel making. Yet the fruit of a certain species of palm furnishes one of the most essential materials for tin plate manufacture.

This material is palm oil, which is pressed from the pulpy portion of the palm fruit. In the tin coating operation, a deep layer of hot palm oil is floated upon the rear portion of the bath of molten metal through which the thin steel plates are conveyed for "tinning." Here it serves as a finishing flux and provides the necessary protective medium for the thin layer of molten tin on each plate during the cooling period. The hot oil also assists in spreading the molten metal uniformly over the surfaces of the plates and in preserving the high luster of the tin as it solidifies.

Its ability to resist both ignition and decomposition at the high temperature of the tin pot, its low volatility when heated and its freedom from excessive free fatty acid make it a most desirable ally of the tin plate manufacturer. It is this same oil which is used in such great quantities in soap and candle making, and a by-product, glycerine, goes into the making of explosives.

STEEL IN TRANSPORTATION

Everyone admires and desires a new automobile. Thousands of people are visiting automobile shows all over the country, and are purchasing or admiring the new sleek, streamlined models. This brings to mind the rapid strides made by steel in transportation.

Complete and efficient transportation facilities are afforded by the railroads, automobiles, ships and aircraft of the United States, and in all branches of transportation, steel plays a role of utmost importance. Furthermore, many of the recent improvements in transportation facilities were largely made possible through the aid of steel.

The railroads have called on stainless steel for many of their new high speed, streamlined trains, and have used other alloy steels to build new freight and passenger cars that are lighter yet stronger than those built of ordinary steel or other materials.

Passenger automobile bodies are more attractive and stronger than before, thanks to improvements in the art of making sheet steel, while alloy steel bodies are making trucks more efficient to operate by reducing their weight while maintaining and sometimes increasing their capacity.

Steel-built vessels and the steel in their engines and equipment have made water transportation on inland rivers and lakes and on the high seas better and safer. In the air, steel engines propel thousands of steel-framed aircraft across land and water on regular schedules.

THE KNOCKER'S CREED

The following appeared in a recent issue of "Steel Columns" published by Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, Chicago District—entitled The Knocker's Creed:

"Man comes into the world without his consent and leaves it against his will. During his stay on earth his time is spent in one continuous round of contraries and misunderstandings. In his infancy, he's an angel; in his boyhood, he's a devil; in his manhood, he's everything from a lizard up; in his duties, he's a fool. If he raises a family, he's a chump; if he raises a check, he's a thief, and then the law raises "cain" with him. If he's a poor man, he's a poor manager and has no sense; if he's rich, he's dishonest, but considered smart; if he's a politician, he's a grafter and a crook; if he's out of politics, they can't place him, as he is an undesirable citizen. If he goes to church, he's a hypocrite; if he stays away, he's a sinner; if he donates to foreign missions, he does it show off; if he doesn't, he's stingy and a tightwad.

When he first comes into this world everybody wants to kiss him; before he goes out, they all want to kick him. If he dies young, there was a great future before him; if he lives to a ripe old age, then of course he's living to save funeral expenses.

Life's a funny thing isn't it?

We will leave that up to you.

HENRY F. THOMPSON

It is with the deepest regret we learn of the recent passing of Henry F. Thompson, pensioner. During his active years at Shenango Works, he was known to all of us as "Henry," and at one time was foreman of the Annealing Box Shop, better known as the "Pot Shop." His congeniality radiated friendship with everyone with whom he came into contact. He served many years efficiently in the service of the corporation, and leaves a host of friends at this plant who sincerely regret his departure.

TIN CITY HUNTING CLUB

Our big game hunters are on a trek to Rich Valley, Cameron county, Pa., to track down the mighty bear, and in due time, the agile deer. We refer to the Tin City Hunting club, composed of Messrs. Boalick, Gibson, Cramer, Fleming, Cypher, Fraser and Christy of the local plants; also Jas. McCormick, Castle Distributing Co.; Don Freeman, Meadville, Pa.; Dr. F. E. Eakin (who bagged a bear two years ago); Ben Rae, State Highway Department, and Frank Druschel, cook.

We learn that Ed. Rainey, the noted grouse hunter, will join this formidable array of nimrods at the end of the week, and possibly W. P. Lohrman, our master mechanic, who has hunted big game over the entire North American continent.

Here's hoping, boys, you'll "bear" down on this hunting trip.

BOWLING

We learn that a picked bowling team of girls from the assorting room are going to bowl a picked team of boys from the general office next Thursday night. Having observed these girls in action on the bowling alleys last season, and also looking up their averages, we, unhesitatingly string along with the girls on this one.

NOTES

Messrs. W. D. Jones, Park, Brenner, Shiek, Spencer, Canan, Hope, Chalmers, Butler, Carlisle, J. Lewis, E. Lewis and Ellsworth, attended the Pitt-Nebraska football game at Pitt stadium last Saturday.

Investments of U. S. life insurance companies total more than 15 billion dollars.

Mystery Develops At School House

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Nov. 18.—State policemen from the Mercer detail are investigating recent mysterious occurrences at the Fairview school house, the latest of which was the finding of a shotgun and some shells in the school room Wednesday.

Tea weapon was taken to the store of C. C. McCullough nearby but no one has claimed it.

Some time ago lights were discovered burning in the school room at night, but no explanation has been made of the occurrence.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

House Expected To Cause Trouble

Representatives Fear Cut In Expenditures Will Antagonize Home Folks

DEBT REACHES DANGER LEVEL

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—President Roosevelt had much more trouble with the senate than with the house of representatives at the last regular session of congress.

The present extra session starts off with indications that, during the ensuing few months, the representatives will cause him more trouble than the senators.

Budget balancing is the outstanding issue just now. It overshadows farm legislation, wages-and-hours, governmental reorganization and, for the time being, everything else—except the possibility of a major war somewhere.

GOVERNMENT CREDIT

As an abstract proposition, I doubt that the average American pays much attention to treasury figures showing how Uncle Sam's receipts from taxes compare with his expenditures.

He does realize, however, that he cannot, for very long, permit his own and his family's living costs to exceed his current income without running him into bankruptcy.

For example, my credit is good enough to enable me to run into debt for a single month, but my credit would not last much longer than that. Then I would begin to be a bad risk.

If I were richer, I might progress for several months into the red without alarming my creditors. If I were a multi-millionaire I might keep it up for a number of years.

But a day of reckoning finally would come. It does not require any college education in economics to see that. Yet a great government's credit commonly is regarded as inexhaustible. It is not.

HOW IT WORKS

When a government's credit starts to weaken the signs are different from the manifestations in an individual's case. The individual finds that he cannot buy groceries for anything except cash, which maybe he hasn't got. In a government's case, prices begin to rise. That is to say, the grocer is suspicious of the worthwhileness of his customer's money. He wants more of it for his goods, because his government's credit is correspondingly impaired.

Germany illustrated this.

In 1914 a German with 1,000,000 marks could buy $250,000 worth of stuff with it. After the war his 1,000,000 scarcely would buy his breakfast.

Such is the result of letting a government overdo itself!

It may pare down a lot of big fortunes, but it raises heck with wages and other small incomes.

PUTTING ON BRAKES

Now, Uncle Sam's economy is not in any such awful shape.

All the same, our government CAN overstrain its credit.

Capable economists have estimated that Uncle Samuel can run up to 35 billion dollars in debt and still deem himself solvent.

Well, our government has passed the 35 billion dollars—and the 37-billion-dollar level. The danger point has been reached, to say the least, and the administration wants to put the expenditure brakes on—in a hurry.

NOT POPULAR

All rational folk want to do it.

But, to do it, congress has got to vote for it.

It will not be popular; it will mean a restraint upon governmental spending.

A legislator who votes for curtailment will antagonize his nome constituency. He probably will not be re-elected.

It does not so much matter to senators, two-thirds of whom will not be candidates in 1938. But ALL representatives will be candidates.

Two-thirds of the senators can vote with semi-honesty.

All representatives have their immediate campaigns in view.

This is why senators are relatively independent; representatives not a bit so.

The row between the two houses will be terrible.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

J. F. P. Kennelly to J. Roy Mercer, trustee, property in third ward and in Hickory township, $1.

November 16 was the last day on which divorce applications to be heard at divorce court, November 26 could be filed. Prothonothy John A. Edgar is now making up a list of cases that will come up for hearing. The testimony is heard by Judges James A. Chambers and W. Walter Braham, without a jury.

John T. Young, candidate for Justice of the Peace in Ellwood City, probably holds the record for light campaign expenses incident to the recent election. Mr. Young filed an expense account at the county commissioners office yesterday showing that his campaign had cost him six cents.

Miss Ina M. Cooper of this city has been granted a commission as a Notary Public. The commission signed by the governor, was entered today at the register and recorder's office together with the required bond.

County Commissioners Clerk William A. Eakin reports that he has not yet heard from the official count in Beaver county, in which Ellwood City is interested to the extent of that section of the borough which lies in Beaver County. The vote cast in that section is counted for borough offices and is reported here at the court house. It is presumed that the delay in making returns has been caused by such troubles as the local board has experienced in making up the official totals.

The county commissioners have been asked if they cannot do something toward eliminating traffic hazards at Harlansburg, which claimed two more lives this week. The highway is outside the jurisdiction of the county commissioners so far as any official action is concerned. The only place that it can receive attention is at the headquarters of the state highway department. The commissioners all agree that the Harlansburg intersection is the worst death trap in this section of the country, and that something ought to be done about it before any more lives are snuffed out. There are many who believe that a circle at the point of intersection, such as is used in some parts of the country would eliminate the danger.

First steps toward improvements to be made is the west end of the court house corridor were taken today when Janitors Clifford James and E. W. McCracken tore down the big bulletin board on which sheriff sales and other notices are posted. The board has held a lot of grief in its time and will be given a decent burial.

There was a wide divergence of opinion as to the amount of damages suffered by Walter W. Raub in his claim against the county and the the railroads, growing out of the construction of the Edenburg viaduct. The tract in question was a farm of 113 acres, about 46 acres of which is botton land. It was admitted that this always had been inundated during big floods, but it was claimed that it is worse since the building of the viaduct. Witnesses for Raub claimed that the farm, taken as a whole, was worth $50 an acre or $5,600 before the improvment and $25 an acre or $2,825 afterwards or a damage of $2,775. Witnesses for the county and the railroads placed the value of the farm at from around $3200 to $3500 before the building of the viaduct, and allowed around $100 damage. This damage was all allowed for about an acre of land taken at the intersection of the Edenburg-Hillsville road and a road leading to the Union limestone company properties No damage was allowed for water. The testimony which is being given in these cases is taken down by a stenographer. It will then be typewritten and sent to the Pubuic Service Commission, which will set the measure of damages on the different properties involved in hearings this week.

All Humans Born "Unmoral" Says Psychologist

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O.—"We are born not immoral, not moral, but unmoral," said Dr. A. Sophie Rogers, noted Ohio State University psychologist, in blaming the "usual discrepancies not to social pressure, but to the lack of it."

Dr. Rogers declared the standards of morality have not changed one way or the other in the past 30 years, but only our methods of dealing with them have changed.

Speaking of the so called "double standard" the psychologist said she preferred a single standard for both men and women but no prescription could be made in the matter.

Opinion On Sex

Of sex, Dr. Rodgers said:

"We are all familiar with the fact that our insane asylums are filled with those who have payed the penalty of promiscuous relations, and for this reason, if no other, I believe that in order to solve the problem we will have to educate the masses of people before we can begin to eliminate promiscuity to any extensive degree at all."

Women and men should demand the same standards of each other, she asserted.

Change Play Date At Mt. Jackson

"Young Smitty" To Be Given On December 10 Instead Of December 3

Very few plays reflect life. Most of them are purely products of an author's imagination. Not so "Young Smitty," which is to be offered for your entertainment at the Mt. Jackson high school auditorium by the Senior class of the high school. The date of the play, formerly December 3, has been changed due to unforseen circumstances to Friday, December 10.

This highly amusing tale of American life in a small town is fascinating to look at. It is just as though a wall were torn from a New Castle household and you were watching what goes on inside. The people in the play are all encountered in real life. The author, having chosen a group of girls and boys exactly like those by which we are surrounded, has recorded their conversation with much graphic reality.

Miss Volkwein, who is directing the play, has spared no pains in securing a fine cast. It is as follows:

Sylvester Smith—Francis Kenny.
Truman Smith—Paul Fox.
Mrs. Smith—Margaret Shaffer.
Betty Smith—May Brandt.
Rodney Cleut—Clair Hoffman.
Myrna Marlowe—Gladys McAnlis.
Mrs. Stella Mabie—Lillian Ciber.
Nick Graham—Jack Davis.
Daisy Mae Clinton — Virginia Metz.
Dr. Mildred Westerly—Alice Jean Enslen.
Alice Fritchit—Mary Alice Kennedy.

Rehearsals are going at top speed and everybody connected with the enterprise is enthusiastic about it. Critics everywhere have proclaimed "Young Smitty" as one of the finest plays by an American author.

Filibuster Stalls Any Action In Senate Sessions

Anti-Lynching Filibuster In Congress Today

Southern Senators Hold Floor Against Vote On Anti-Lynching Bill

STRIVE TO GET FARM BILL VOTE

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International New Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Chuckling Republicans today watched the senate anti-lynching filibuster develop into a speech-making melee showing a Democratic lineup shot with discord.

The Republican minority held its collective tongue, as Democrats raked laws and policies of their own administration.

Southern Democrats pounded away to stave off a vote on the Wagner-Van Nuys anti-lynching bill, and their filibuster appeared to be gaining strength. But this success came at the cost of an airing of individual grievances of southern conservatives, dealing with everything under the broad canopy of President Roosevelt's new deal.

Meanwhile Senator Vandenberg, (R) of Michigan, curled his long legs under a chair, and silently smiled with amazement at friction across the aisle.

Of Old School

Thus far, two southern orators of the old school have held forth, ostensibly on the evils of the anti-lynching bill but actually on every thought crossing their mind. They were senators Tom Connally, (D) of Texas, anti-lynching opposition leader, and Josiah Bailey, (D) of North Carolina, who still held the floor today, and who believes a hollow white bone the best fishing bait obtainable.

Senator Bailey also believes, and so related to his colleagues in some 10,000 words, that everything he has been able to think of about the administration in several hours of filibustering, is wrong. He admonished his friends to turn away from the anti-lynching bill, revise taxes to help business, get the government out of the power business, and put the kibosh firmly upon sit-down strikes and some activities of the National Labor Relations Board.

And there was more to come. The anti-lynching filibusterers fought to hold the floor against a vote until their southern ally and agriculture committee chairman, Senator Smith, of South Carolina, drafts a farm bill. The latter will automatically displace anti-lynching, once brought to the floor.

Not Worried

Today, Senator Dixie Graves, Alabama Democrat and wife of Alabama's governor, was expected to take her place in the southern defense against the anti-lynching bill. Reserve speakers were Senators Bilbo of Mississippi, Pepper and Andrews of Florida, George of Georgia, Democrats, and perhaps Senators Borah, (R) of Idaho, opposing the anti-lynching bill on constitutional grounds.

Connally predicted he and his supporters could block anti-lynching legislation until an agriculture bill is brought in, but its co-sponsors, Senators Wagner of New York and Van Nuys of Indiana, Democrats, said they weren't worried.

"When the farm bill come in, it will displace anti-lynching, but when the farm bill is out of the way, by agreement, our bill will come up again," said Wagner. "And then, we have the votes to pass it."

It happened to me

—maybe, I was lucky.

It happened this way: I found myself in a run-down condition . . . I was listless . . . despondent . . . my appetite was lagging . . . I was losing weight.

I wasn't desperate, as I knew I had no organic trouble . . . but I was puzzled as to why I was losing ground.

I was lucky because a friend suggested that I try S.S.S. Tonic . . . she said it had greatly benefited her in building back her strength and now she felt like her old self again.

You, too, will want to take S.S.S. Tonic to regain and to maintain your red-blood-cells . . . to restore lost weight . . . to regain energy . . . to strengthen nerves . . . and to give your skin that natural health glow.

At all drug stores in two convenient sizes. The larger size at a saving in price. There is no substitute for this time tested remedy. No ethical druggist will suggest something "just as good."

S.S.S. TONIC

AROUND CITY HALL

Years ago there was displayed in a cupboard with a glass face at the police department a wide assortment of bone-crushing, face-cutting and death weapons. However, they were removed some years ago. In former days police who disarmed persons who carried long knives, stilettoes, revolvers, brass knucklers and blackjacks turned the weapons over to headquarters and they were placed in the cupboard. The name of the arresting officer, the name of the person who carried the weapon and a history of the case, were attached to the weapon.

Thirty-five calibre Remington automatic rifles, Thompson machine-gun, riot shotguns, hand grenades, tear gas and nauseating gas are kept at the city police station ready for instant use. The automatic rifles are kept for long range work against possible bandits and the machine-gun and riot guns are used mostly at close quarters. The hand grenades can be tossed into a house and the tear and nauseating gas can be also discharged in a house where any criminal may take refuge. The department has a gun which can fire a load of gas into a second or third story window.

Velvet butterflies worn one on each side of the head, are an attractive fashion for evening, and may be worn by young or old, in black or in color.

'Women's Night' At First Baptist

Another Evangelistic Service Tonight; Five Baptized Wednesday Night

Five persons received the ordinance of baptism at the First Baptist church last night where Dr. J. W. Hoyt and the Rev. Stewart Boehmer are engaged in evangelistic meetings. Dr. Hoyt's message dealt with the reasons why young men and women often go wrong. He asserted that the greatest single influence in the life of youth is that of the home. Tonight is women's night in this series of meetings. Friday night is expected to be the high point of the week when the Sunday school will gather by classes and departments. All the choirs of the church will join in a supper meeting on that night at 6 o'clock. The junior choir will present a special program in the evening service.

Mice Nibble Matches, Recluse Is Burned

MEADVILLE, Pa., Nov. 18—Suffocated when he attempted to extinguish flames in his ramshackle Linesville home, Charles Davis, 64, was found dead at noon by his brother, Laverne.

Coroner Luther King, issuing a verdict of accidental death, said the fire broke out in the bedroom of the victim's house late in the morning The blaze apparently started when mice nibbled matches in the pocket of an overcoat that was hanging on the wall.

Stores Have Christmas Stocks On Display Now

It isn't time to carve the Thanksgiving turkey yet, but the stores are practically ready for Christmas. In many of them toylands have been established, Christmas goods are being displayed and from now until Christmas you are going to have a time explaining to Junior that Santa Claus knocked off early this year to come to New Castle.

Walking through the stores this year gives you some idea of how streamlining has taken the toy world. Everything seems to be streamlined, bicycles, sleds, small automobiles, scooters, even tiny carriages to haul dolls.

Among the book departments, the Dick Tracys, Brick Bradfords and the rest of those modern day heroes, are getting a heavy play. Among the things for the little lassies you can get dolls that bear striking resemblances to your favorite movie stars.

Flowing chin whiskers, long red robes and cotton piped hats are being taken out of the moth balls for the many assistant Santa Clauses that will serve this year. Most of the stores of any size are headquarters for Santa Claus and the kids will have a big time visiting all of them. Dads and mothers will also have a big time explaining that Santa Claus is something like the Dionne quintuplets.

The season is on, electric trains and airplanes, dolls and dishes, machine guns and quoit sets, all of them are on display and between now and Christmas Eve you have a chance to make your selection.

And for the first time this season, "Do Your Christmas Shopping Early."

Wage-Hour Bill May Be Forced To House Floor

Need 218 Signatures On Petition To Force Action On Disputed Measure

HAVE AVOIDED ANY SHOWDOWN

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Uncertainty hung over the embattled wage-hour bill as proponents and foes today waged a veritable tug-of-war over a petition to force the measure to the House floor.

Having watched 105 members march to the speaker's desk in the last two days to attach their names to the petition, Chairman May T. Norton of the House labor committee declared that "without any doubt" the necessary 218 signatures to discharge the measure from the rules committee could be obtained.

The opponents were just as confident the bill would never leave the rules committee where it became stymied in the closing days of the last session after it was passed by the Senate.

"They'll never get 200 signatures," said Rep. Lamneck (D) of Ohio, one of the opposition leaders.

Withhold Signatures

Administration leaders meanwhile withheld their signatures to the petition pending a meeting of the rules committee Tuesday. A coalition of southern Democrats and Republicans have successfully avoided a showdown in the committee. The administration leaders intend to force it.

Should members of the rules committee undergo a change of heart, it would be possible to get the measure to the floor much quicker than by a discharge petition. The earliest the bill could be brought up in the House by petition would be December 13.

One member of the rules committee who had polled his fellow members said that there would be a "minimum of eight votes against" sending the bill to the floor should the matter come to a vote Tuesday. Eight is a majority of the 14-man committee.

NEW CASTLE ELKS OBSERVING GOLDEN JUBILEE OF LODGE

the dinner toastmaster and Exalted Ruler Connelly will bring greetings. Clark H. Buell, general chairman of the celebration, will speak on "Our Anniversary;" Robert M. Dale, Oil City, will bring greetings from Northwestern Pennsylvania's Elks; George . F. Falkenstein, McKeesport, will speak on "Reflections of the Past," and Wilbur P. Baird, Greenville, will discuss "Visions of the Future." All are district leaders. The chaplain of the local lodge, John C. Williams, will give the invocation at dinner.

A dinner for the new members of the lodge will be served at 6 in the Elks Home.

Winds Up With Ball

At 8:30 tonight in the Elks Home will come a cabaret and floor show and the grand ball and enterment, another of the main functions, will commence at 9.

Honored today by the anniversary throng were the three living charter members of the 40 who founded the lodge on August 31, 1887.

They are Samuel S. Hamilton, this city, and John T. Horner, Warren, O., and A. Sannie Russell, of Youngstown, O. They received the plaudits of their fraternal brothers every where they went.

For the 50th anniversary the lodge had published a handsome anniversary program booklet, which included among its features a short resume of the history of Lodge 69. It was entitled "A Glimpse Into the Past."

New Castle's Elks lodge was instituted August 31, 1887, and its charter was granted December 12 of that year. William J. Myers, of Philadelphia Lodge 2, state deputy, was the officer in charge. Sixty Elks from Youngstown Lodge 55 and 15 from Pittsburgh Lodge 11, were on hand to greet the 40 charter members of the lodge.

Frank G. Blackford was the first exalted ruler of the New Castle organization.

Today's program marks but another of the many significant celebrations of the local lodge. With the 50th anniversary over a few weeks, the attention of all the lodgmen will turn straight to next August when delegates of the Pennsylvania State Elks Association come here for their annual convention. Lodge 69 successfully campaigned for the 1938 convention this year.

Discover Old Church Without Walls And Pews

(International News Service)

LONDON.—A church which has no walls, organ, pews, choir or collection has been discovered in Dorset County.

Attended by only eight worshippers the church stands on a slope near a stream at Ashley Chase, Dorset.

Spiritual leader is Lady Milne-Watson, wife of Sir David Milne-Watson, chairman of a gas utility corporation.

The church is dedicated to St. Luke and dates back to the twelfth century.

Its altar consists of a wooden cross and built-up stones resembling an early altar of the Church of England.

Although seats are provided for the eight worshippers no one sits down when attending a service, which is conudcted by Lady Milne-Watson, no priest being available to take charge.

Lady Milne-Watson leads the singing.

The reason for holding services there is because Abbotsbury Church the only other in the district, is five miles away.

Take Last Step To Provide New Traffic Route

City council's last legislative step toward a route east from South Mill street via Neal street, Taylor street and Butler avenue to East Washington street was taken this morning.

It was a measure presented by Councilman J. M. Rice for the purchase of a small amount of land necessary for the improvement, owned by Leo Fornataro and Andy Nocera.

Prior to this, council had passed an ordinance submitted by Councilman B. F. Butler which designated the width of Neal street between Mechanic and Taylor streets.

Some days ago a cut was made at the interesection of Neal and Taylor streets.

According to reports the state will improve the route when made passable for traffic. According to Mayor Charles E. McGrath this already has been done.

The South Mill street to East Washington street route may relieve East Washington street of considerable truck traffic between these points.

OLD HABIT CAUSES DEATH

(International News Service)

FITCHBURG, Mass.—A habit of 25 years, picked up in his days as a sea-faring man, brought death to Dominique Melanson, 80-year-old retired fisherman.

"Looking at the weather," Melanson fell 18 feet from a second story window, receiving injuries which caused his death.

B'Nai B'Rith Rally January 9

Local Lodge Will Be Hosts To Western Pennsylvania Council

On January 9, 1938, New Castle will be the scene of one of the biggest rallies of that month. On that date, members of the local B'Nai B'Rith will be hosts to the Western Pennsylvania council B'Nai B'Rith.

At an enthusiastic meeting held in the Leslie hotel, Wednesday evening, plans were formulated for the occasion which will be held on January 9. Abe Levine was named as chairman. The rally will come to a climax with a banquet. On the calendar of the local B'Nai B'Rith, the affair ranks as one of the outstanding dates in 1938.

Present at the meeting last night were a number of out-of-town guests who spoke briefly on the general policy and plans for 1938. Those who spoke were: David H. Weiner, of Washington, Pa., president of the Western Pennsylvania council, R. Hanan, of Washington, Leon Smith, of Braddock, treasurer of Western Pennsylvania council, L. Blumenfeld, secretary, of Braddock, and J. Pesel, of Washington. N. J. Love, president of the local lodge, presided.

Plans for the rally will be furthered at a later meeting.

A SLIGHT ERROR

(International News Service)

OSCODA, Mich.—Red indeed is the face of the state sign painter whose brush never hesitates at names of places like Shiawasee, Missaukee and Marenisco.

Just outside Oscoda he recently painted a sign to mark Van Ettan Creek, and he spelled it correctly on one side then made it "Van Etten" with an "e" instead of the proper "a" on the other side.

URGES CALMNESS TO ESCAPE HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

HARTFORD, Conn.—Be as calm as a Chinaman if you want to escape high blood pressure.

This is the advice of Dr. Timothy F. Brewer, speaking under the auspices of the Hartford Medical Society.

Describing the type of person who either has high blood pressure or who is going to get it, Dr. Brewer declared:

"They have got to learn to relax and be calm more often. They must not get excited so frequently. They should strive to be like the Chinese who never have high blood pressure. The thought naturally arises, if we would prevent high blood pressure, be as the Chinese."

Dr. Brewer revealed that heart disease caused by high blood pressure is the most common form of heart trouble during middle life and that about 70,000 people in the United States die each year from heart failure caused by high blood pressure.

SHARP DECLINE IN POPULATION DUE TO STANDARDS OF LIVING

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH—America's high standards of living and education will result in a 28,000,000 drop in population within 100 years, Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the American Medical Society's Journal, predicts.

Explaining his forecast, Dr. Fishbein said that the population of the world is decreasing as living standards increase.

"The lower intellectual third of the population is the most productive," he said. "Accordingly, as more people are educated they have less children.

The United States, however, has a proportionately lower death rate than other civilized nations, according to Dr. Fishbein.

Recently Surveyed Europe

Fishbein returned recently from a European tour during which he studied medical advances in various countries. He said:

"Research in the United States leads the world. I do not know whether the reason is our greater funds or our genius for organization.

"Undoubtedly this country, where there is individuality and personal responsibility, as opposed to the government regulation practiced in Sweden, Russia, Germany and Italy contributes most to medical progress in the world.'

No Action On Cascade Street Surface Move

Council convened in the city building today and took no action on Councilman B. F. Butler's suggestion that gravel and clay be placed on Cascade street. It was estimated by City Engineer Glenn R. Throop the operation would cost about $900.00.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath said it would cost about $14,000 to fix the street permanently. He opposed spending $1,000, at this time, on a temporary improvement.

It was pointed out by Finance Director James L. Fink that about $100,000 was spent on the street, where there is no drainage and to spend $900.00 now would be similar to throwing money away.

Dionne Quintuplets Master Vocabulary Of About 400 Words

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS.—The world's most famous children—the Dionne quintuplets—have a vocabulary of about 400 words; they know their parents and are extremely fond of them despite the fact Papa and Mama Dionne live across the street and not in the same house with the Quins.

So declared Miss Yvonne Leroux of Callander, Ont., who nursed the quintuplets during the first two and one-half years of their lives, on a recent visit to St. Louis.

Miss Leroux said, "a single child learns to talk much earlier than two or more babies, as they seem to make a sign language of their own, which is hard to overcome."

The Quins have learned recently to distinguish the sound of Dr. Dafoe's and Mr. and Mrs. Dionne's automobiles as they drive in to see them and there is a mad rush to greet them on their arrival.

Miss Leroux laughed heartily at the idea that the children's house is almost a hospital. She said that "the nurses now do not even wear uniforms, they wear light-colored smocks."

Miss Leroux is proud that little Yvonne is her namesake.

"It was quite funny naming the babies," she explained. "The family got along famously with Cecile, Annette, Marie and Emily, then they ran out of names of relatives and friends. In a spirit of fun, I said 'This is a good little one to name for her nurse,' and the family promptly took me up and called the baby Yvonne."

MAHONING SCHOOL PUPILS ENTERTAIN

E. C. Hulbert, one of the library patrons and a resident of the ward, was called upon for an answer to President McCaslin, and he accepted the library in behalf of the citizens.

FREEZING TEMPERATURES PREDICTED WITHIN TWENTY FOUR HOURS... ONE SHOT OF "PRESTONE" ANTI-FREEZE NOW WILL PREVENT FREEZE-UP... BOIL-AWAY... RUST-CLOGGING...ALL WINTER LONG... FOR LONG-RUN WINTER MOTORING ECONOMY AND PEACE OF MIND GET THE ANTI-FREEZE THAT IS GUARANTEED IN WRITING... "EVEREADY" "PRESTONE" ANTI-FREEZE...DON'T WAIT IMPERATIVE YOU GET FREEZE-UP PROTECTION NOW...

FIND YOUR CAR ON THIS CHART

IMPORTANT! The price per gallon of an anti-freeze means nothing unless you know how many gallons you will need during the entire winter. You can't get that information on a boil-away anti-freeze. But you can get it for "Prestone" anti-freeze —and here it is. See how reasonably you can get two-way protection all winter long against both freeze-up and rust with one shot of "Prestone" anti-freeze—one shot because it won't boil off, no matter how warm the weather gets between the cold snaps. If your car isn't on this chart, your dealer has a chart showing all cars; and amounts needed for temperatures to 60° below zero.

Find your car and read from left to right. The first figure shows the protection you get with one gallon of "Eveready" "Prestone" anti-freeze in the cooling system; the second with one and a half gallons—and so on. "+" means above zero. "—" means below zero. If your car has a hot water heater, add ¾ gallon to the quantity called for.

Former New Wilmington Player May Become Professional Basketball Player

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 18.—Irene Borowitz, former New Wilmington high school girl basketball star, is a candidate for the Blepps and Coombs professional cage team of Cleveland, according to a letter received Wednesday by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Borowitz of the Sharon road.

Miss Borowitz has been affiliated with the Republic Steel Corporation in Cleveland since graduating from high school last spring and intends to resign from her position if she is awarded a contract by the professional club.

The Blepps and Coombs team is composed entirely of girls and schedules games with teams in St. Louis, Chicago, New York, and other large cities. In her letter she stated that she was playing on the first team at the present time and that she was holding hopes of receiving a contract.

Miss Borowitz, known as "Peaches" by her friends in basketball circles in the county, was a member of the blue and gold girls team at the New Wilmington high school for four years, and was known throughout the county for her proficiency in this sport. She was an all-around player capable of playing any position on the team and played a boys style of game. When she receives her contract she will be the first prodigy of the New Wilmington high school ever to play professional basketball.

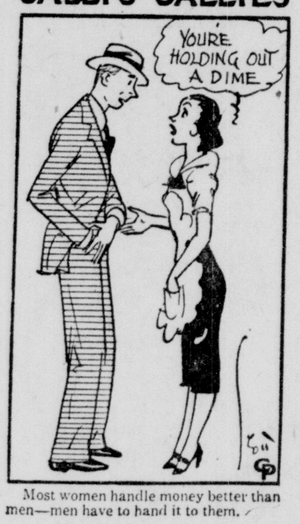
SALLY'S SALLIES



Most women handle money better than men—men have to hand it to them.

Council Considers Street Oiling Plan

Delegation At Session Today Urges City Assume Charge Of Project

Simon Laskey and approximately a dozen women, the latter all property owners, appeared before council at their meeting in city hall today and asked council to take some action whereby the city would take over the oiling of dirt streets. Council replied that the proposal would be studied.

Laskey pointed out that in practically all cities and boroughs between Pittsburgh and Erie, this plan has been adopted. He said that in Sharon the property owner pays so much per lot and the city the rest.

Laskey oiled many dirt streets here last summer and according to the women present at council meeting today he was given credit for having done the work right and they agreed it had also improved thoroughfares.

Some of the women spoke and said in collecting money to pay for the oiling of streets they had met considerable difficulty, due to some people not wanting to pay their share.

They said that if the city would take over the oiling and it would not increase the city's expenditures to any noticeable degree, they believe the plan would be far better than at present.

According to Councilman J. Myron Rice the probable cost would extend from $14,500 to $25,000.

Laskey's plan would be to have council take over the oiling, make a standard of the oil to be used, then let out the job by bid an the city collect the money for the oiling.

The proposal will be studied, according to Mayor Charles E. McGrath.

1,000 HARVARD STUDENTS SEEK TO EARN TUITION

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Harvard may be a "richman's" college, but over 1,000 students want part-time work to earn money towards their tuition.

Whether the position is that of a crooner, window washer, dog-walker, part-time plumber, there is usually a Harvard man available.

The object of most of the job seekers is to get a job that will give them either room or board or both.

Harvard authorities report that in good years over 1,000 students find part-time work and earn between $250 and $300 a year.

One Third Usual Average

Ordinarily about one-third of the college student body enrolls with the university employment agency for work. In addition about 500 of the graduate school apply.

The largest number find employment as restaurant workers, entertainers, psychological subjects, delivery boys, chauffeurs and window washers.

During the past summer 400 of the students held vacation positions, many of them as tutor-companions or camp counsellors.

Game Commission Plans For Fight

Preliminary Injunction Bans Killing Of Anterless Deer Next Week

Looks As If 50,000 Hunters In State Would Get Their "Money Back"

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 18.—For the time being, at least, it looked today like "no doe" and "your money back" for some 50,000 would-be hunters of anterless Pennsylvania deer.

Just what would follow in the wake of the Dauphin county court decision banning next week's scheduled three-day doe season throughout the state remained unsettled. An appeal by the game commission to the state supreme court was indicated but not certain.

"I don't know yet what we are going to do," Seth Gordon, executive secretary of the commission said today. "We are going over the matter with counsel today."

Preliminary Injunction

The court granted protesting residents of Elk, Clinton and Cameron counties a preliminary injunction which Gordon admitted outlawed, for the present, the commission's open season on antlerless deer in all 54 counties in which it was to have been observed next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Gordon said he imagined that if an appeal is taken to a higher court, the commission will wait until the local court has ruled on making its order final at a hearing Monday. "It's pretty hard to say," he pondered. "That wouldn't give us much time on an appeal."

The season was ruled out on technical points that the commission had not properly advertised the three-day period and that it erred in allowing farmers to kill does on their own grounds without permits.

The possibility stood that the commission, if rejected on appeal, would have to refund some $100,000 in special $2 doe license fees.

Risko Wins In Comeback Bout At Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Nov. 18.—Johnny Risko, the old rubber man, was back in the ring wars today after a decisive ten-round victory over Bob Olin, the former light-heavyweight champion.

Risko, despite his two years of inactivity and the seven years he gave his 25-year-old opponent, was the better man for seven rounds. He lost the sixth and seventh, when Olin showed his best stuff of the bout and really carried the fight, and tied the fifth when he let go with a couple of blows after the bell.

The Cleveland baker boy carried the fight most of the way.

Yale To Refuse Rose Bowl Bid

Big Three Tradition Sticks And Yale Will Spurn Bid For Coast Jaunt

COULD USE MONEY, BUT WON'T GO

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Finally and definitely, the ivy-festooned Yales emphatically and positively will not play a post-season football game, the writer was given to understand today.

It isn't that Yale—which sold broadcasting privileges to its football games—couldn't use the $100,000 net that it would take out of a Rose Bowl appearance. It isn't that at all. Yale just simply isn't interested in playing beyond the Harvard game of Saturday, even if extended an invitation.

Fettors Binding

If this is wrong so was the gentleman on the Yale campus, who answered the phone by name. However, he probably wasn't, because he ought to know and it looks as though tradition, big three agreements and other such fetters still are binding, with further speculations on Yale's intentions brought to an abrupt halt.

Importance of Yale's position rests on the fact that it, above all others, was and still is wanted for the Rose Bowl. It has the tradition, scholastic standards, and background of swank. Also it may not be too tough. Pitt had very little of anything last year—except a team that made Washington roll over and holler uncle.

They positively don't want Pitt this time, because they've seen too much of the Panthers already, and they don't want Alabama, whose coach allegedly isn't on the best of terms with the coast people. They may wind up wanting Fordham, but that is likely to depend upon what the Rams do to St. Mary's Saturday and New York University the following week-end.

Yale Fine Team

If the Yales really are turning down the bid this time—if it is proferred—it may mean that they are passing up their best chance for the western trip, for they stand now as one of the best teams in the nation. Football being what it is, they may not be that good again soon.

Their excellence makes of the Harvard tussle one of the really big games on the coming week-end. Unbeaten and tied only once, Yale will be seeking, among other things, to add to a record which shows they have not been shut out in 34 games dating back to 1933.

Henry Armstrong Favored To Win New York Battle

Negro Featherweight Champ Will Meet Undefeated Billy Beauhuld Friday

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Promoter Mike Jacobs today said a sell-out crowd would see Henry Armstrong, the world's featherweight champion, battle Billy Beauhuld, the undefeated lightweight with title aspirations, here tomorrow night. Jacobs said the gate probably would exceed $40,000.

Despite Beauhuld's unbeaten record, Armstrong is a 3 to 1 favorite today to win the decision and the bookies are laying 7 to 5 he will win by a knockout.

These odds seem amazing in view of the fact that Beauhuld has beaten some of the best lightweights in the game. But the odds were even more lopsided until a flood of Beauhuld money appeared two days ago, in response to the 5 to 1 the books started laying on Armstrong.

Beauhuld will have height, reach and weight on Armstrong. He is a hard puncher and he can take a punch. Several fighters have had him on the deck but he always got up to win, a sure test of his gameness.

Armstrong has had 23 fights this year and won them all except one by knockouts.

Wabash Bears Will Play Beaver Falls

Sunday afternoon on the E. & A. grounds the Wabash Bears, New Castle independent champs, will encounter the strong Beaver Falls eleven.

Beaver Falls has defeated Koppel, 14-0, and comes here bent on trimming the local Bears. The seventh ward aggregation has won 5 and lost 2. Kaiser Toscano, lanky end, leads the Bears scoring column with 22 points.

N. Y. A. Team Will Be Fast

From present indications the 1937 edition of the National Youth Administration basketball team promises not only to be one of the finest hardwood outfits in the district but also one of the nattiest appearing clubs.

Plans are underway to equip the N. Y. A. passers with uniforms of scarlet and gray. Mike Perrett, Charles Styers, Eddie Ostrowski, Joe Cooper, Irv Rubeis and Dudy Perrett have been added to last year's roster. Coach John Rubeis also has Paul Morrison, Bill Trott, Francis Rittenour, Ralph Cratty, Cowden, Pia, Metta, Gairdo, Cestrone, Bernaby and Richardson. Harry Falls is business manager.

The team practices on Tuesday and Friday evenings from 5:30 to 8 o'clock in the Lincoln-Garfield gymnasium through the cooperation of Louie Dec and Walter Smith, W. P. A. recreational leaders. Following Friday's practice, an important meeting will be held. Coach Rubeis requests all N. Y. A. hoopsters to be on hand.

Fannins Plan For Next Year

Will Step Out With Semi-pro Football Team, Is Reported

The Fannins are going to step out next year and give New Castle football fans a real high class semi-pro grid eleven, it was announced today by Manager Joe Factor.

Games will be scheduled with leading teams in the Pittsburgh, Youngstown and Erie, Sharon and Butler districts. Manager Factor is busily engaged in signing up new material for his semi-pro team for next year—such stars as Louie Leonard, 230 pounds, Johnny Marshall of Bessemer high, Mike Perrett and Benny Goclano have already signed contracts.

There is a possibility that George Mike, West Virginia Wesleyan star, and Tom McMurdo of Kiski may be signed next year, along with Walt Kominic, the old "Powerhouse".

AAU Peace Is Restored Now

Feud Between AAU And NCA Has Finally Been Settled

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Harmony has been restored among the amateur associations, officials of the American Olympic Association, in quadrennial session here, beamed today.

Notwithstanding all the unpleasantries that were voiced against President Avery Brundage for withdrawing Eleanor Holm, the swimming star, from the Berlin olympics for breaking training rules; to wit drinking champagne, he was re-elected for another four-year term by acclamation. The same was true of the association's other administrative officers.

Harmony Prevails

The feud between the National Collegiate Association and the amateur athletic union over representation on committees in charge of the sports the two bodies are interested, was ended in a compromise. The N A A U had sought to retain its 6-to-4 advantage on these committees while the N C A demanded five representatives on a committee of nine.

Under the compromise the two organizations will have equal represenation on these sports committees, each having six members. The committees will have 13 members, the thirteenth members will be appointed by the committees from nominations selected by the olympic association. His nominees must be approved by a two-thirds vote of the A A U.

Fighters Of Yesteryear Not Yet Forgotten Here

Ross, J. Dunn, Chips, McMahon, Dailey, Terry, Jones, Brannigan, Stewart, D. Dunn, Bresnahan Recalled

Twenty-five years ago New Castle was known for some of the most prominent disciples of punch in the country and almost every day someone inquires as to what has become of some of the fighters who used Apple Alley as a loitering place between training periods. In fact, that thoroughfare could have been appropriately named Cauliflower Way and not have been misnamed.

Those were the days when George Chip, Tom McMahon, Patsy Brannigan and others were exchanging blows with battlers from other cities, all in the hope of some day occupying the champion's chair.

Of the trio, Chip did succeed to the middleweight throne by knocking out Frank Klaus, while McMahon beat some of the best light-heavyweights and heavyweights, and Brannigan was a tartar at 117 pounds.

And before those days there were such well known celebrities as Tony Ross, heavyweight, and Jimmie Dunn, lightweight. They met the best in their divisions and displayed their ability in all the big towns.

Some Live Here

Dan Dailey was one of the heavies who shared in the limelight around 1913, likewise Joe Chip. The former was a heavyweight of 225 pounds, while Joe Chip milled best as a 158 pounder.

Tommy Bresnahan, featherweight; Walter Goo Stewart, featherweight; Battling Terry and Tommy Jones, lightweights, were also pugilistic noises and Babe Picato later came in for his featherweight and lightweight praise.

George Chip is now a watchman here and McMahon is a barkeeper. Tony Ross occupies the same role at Pittsburgh. Jones is acting commissioner of traffic and Terry is a tin mill worker.

Joe Chip is a shirt cutter at Pottsville and Tommy Bresnahan is believed to be at Rochester, N. Y. Dan Dailey left here some time ago and when last heard from was in the Sunny South. Picato is in California.

Walter Goo Stewart became a bricklayer at Wheeling, while Jimmie Dunn is managing and training fighters on the Pacific coast.

Danny Dunn, who was also a member of the local fistic colony, is in Cleveland.

All of these fighters were under the management of Jimmie Dime who is still training fighters and who has lived here since around 1909.

In those days his fighters were in demand. If Dime and his boxers had a dollar for every mile they rode on a railroad train to and from fights their pockets would jingle.

All of them, so far as is known, are in good physical condition.

Wooster Is Last For W. & J. Team

Coach George Roark Has Several Of His Varsity Starters Out With Injuries

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 18.—Washington and Jefferson's hopes of ending the current football season with a good record was somewhat brightened last Saturday by the Presidents' superb performance in holding the unbeaten and untied Lafayette Leopards to a 6-0 victory on a mud-soaked field at Easton.

This coming Saturday the red and black team, plagued all season by team wrecking injuries, and immeasurably discouraged by the loss of Mike Rosso, triple threat back, and Brit Patterson, ace kicker and passer, will close their campaign by meeting Wooster's Scots at Wooster.

Coach George Roark of the Presidents is counting much on the kicking of Frankie Biss, sensational junior, who stepped into Rosso's shoes at such short notice, and Glenn Etzweiler and John Lichvar, halfback and fullback, respectively, who will play their last game for the Presidents against Wooster. All three have shown up well this year.

The Presidents lost the services of Art Petrecca, star center, in the Lafayette fray. Petrecca had taken his place last Saturday for the first time since he was injured several weeks back against Butler. Hugh Bardella, stellar junior discovery, is filling in for Petrecca.

See Plenty Of Excitement In Pitt-Penn State Game

(Special To The News)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18.—Pittsburgh football comes to a home close Saturday when the Panthers meet Penn State's Lions in the Pitt Stadium in the district's oldest rivalry, and there is liable to be plenty of excitement in the Pitt bowl.

Penn State has not made a habit of wasting scoring opportunities. Thus far no foe has been able to hold the Lions scoreless, Penn, Maryland, Syracuse, Cornell all having seen Lion backs go speeding by Bob Higgins tallied three times on mighty Cornell, something no other eastern team has done. It scored three times to beat Maryland, undefeated in its last six starts before the State game, Syracuse won on a pass interception after State held a two-touchdown lead, and Penn was held scoreless while the Wear to Harrison combination clicked for a score.

Free-scoring games are promised when the Lions go into action—too free scoring for a tendency to gamble cost the Nittany team the Syracuse and Cornell games.

Against Pitt Bob Higgins will have a team in an ideal spot. His players can take chances, for there is everything to gain and nothing to lose.

State has better reserves this year, and it has a faster attack. Rabbit Wear and Harry Harrison make up an aerial circus that has bothered all foes, and they hope to do the same against Pitt.

So far the State line has failed to yield a score, although the secondary has been more generous. The Blue and White forward wall will be even more stubborn against Pitt, especially with Economos and DeMarino back in harness. Those two along with Barantovich at left end, and Enders behind the line make a rugged wall.

Cubs May Get Mungo In Big Deal, Report

Cubs, Dodgers And Phils Believed Ready To Announce Three-Cornered Deal

RIP COLLINS MAY LAND WITH PHILS

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—There is a widespread belief among baseball men today that Van Lingle Mungo, temperamental ace of the Brooklyn Dodgers' pitching staff, has been definitely traded to the Chicago Cubs.

John Gorman, business manager of the Dodgers, today denied that a deal for Mungo had been consummated but he did admit the club had received all kinds of offers for him.

Readily admitting that the big speed artist is on the auction block, Gorman said he would go to the highest bidder, and intimated that an interesting announcement might come out of the minor league meeting in Milwaukee or the major league meetings in Chicago.

Want Good Offer

However, Jim Mulvey, the Brooklyn club vice president, indicated today that any offer for Mungo would have to be "a mighty attractive one." He said:

"Mungo will play with and for the Dodgers until such time as another national league club makes such an attractive offer for his services that we couldn't afford to refuse it."

The deal the baseball men generally have in mind is a three-cornered one which would send Mungo and first baseman Buddy Hassett to the Cubs in exchange for outfielder Frank Demaree, first baseman Dolph Camilli and either pitcher Clay Bryant or Bill Lee.

Camilli For Collins

Camilli is still with the Phillies but it is thought the Cubs could get him by giving up first baseman Jim Collins, outfielder George Stainback and cash—the last consideration always being a highly important one whenever the Phils are involved.

The Dodgers are admittedly keenly interested in Camilli who would find an inviting target in the Dodgers' right field fence. Further credence is lent to this deal because of the reported friction between Hassett and manager Burleigh Grimes last year.

On its face, this appears to be a good deal. In Collins, the Phils would get a first baseman who would be as useful to them as Camilli; an outfielder the Cubs don't need and the cash which the Phils always need.

Would Help Cubs

The Cubs would get a fine young first baseman who can hit as well as field and a pitcher who should win at least 20 games for them under more pleasant surroundings. They would automatically strengthen themselves at first base and in the box and while they would be giving up a great outfielder in Demaree, they might replace him through another deal.

Either Bryant or Lee probably would be of more use to the Dodgers than a discontented Mungo and while they may seem to be getting the worst of it in swapping Hassett for Camilli, the latter is the man they want, and if the Dodgers are satisfied, nobody else is likely to complain.

Catholics Win In Final Game

The Catholic A. C. football team ended the 1937 season at the Cotton Bowl last Sunday with a 9 to 0 victory over the Italian A. C. it was announced by Coach "Gabby" DeCaprio today.

Cotton Gennock and Red Ross were again the standouts in the game. Gennock making the touchdown. Ross booted a field goal.

Coach DeCaprio used most of his subs the final two periods. A boy named Fonzeno looked very good at fullback for the winners.

Defending champion Willie Hoppe maintained lead over Jake Schaefer of Chicago in 3,000 challenge match for 18.1 balkine billiards title at New York....

Stock Market Sags Slightly

Light Dealings Are Reported In Market Trading During Morning

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The stock market continued to sag today in relatively light dealings.

Steels, rails, coppers and oils also displayed marked reactionary tendencies.

Chrysler was off 2½ points at one time and General Motors almost a point. U. S. Steel was off close to a point, Bethlehem more than 2 and National half as much in a depressed steel group.

Other soft spots included Anaconda, American Smelting and Kennecott in coppers, each down more than a point; DuPont almost 2 and Union Carbide 1 in chemicals; Standard of Jersey, Phillips Petroleum and Texas Corp., each more than a point; Atchison as much in rails, and International Harvester 2.

Commodities were easier. Wheat dropped about a cent a bushel at Chicago. Cotton slipped a few points. Bonds were quiet and little changed.

Truck Drivers Are Abducted In Pittsburgh

Coal Salesman Abducts Five Men, Stages Real Wild West Shooting Scenes

POLICE FINALLY END STRANGE SHOW

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18.—The "Wild West" came to Pittsburgh today in the shape of a coal salesman armed with an automatic revolver, an eight-inch hunting knife, and a pint bottle of whisky who "abducted" four truck drivers and another and convoyed them through the city streets pumping shots at the trucks and into the air in approved wild west fashion.

Police finally caught up with the party and arrested Robert J. Steenson, 22, said by police to be a prominent salesman for a Pittsburgh Collieries company.

Before that, however, the five led a hectic hour and a half. From 2:30 to 4 this morning the five "abducted" men were in fear of their lives, they told police, as they were forced to drive around the city in wild west fashion.

Abduct Truck Drivers

As related by them, Glen Eicher, Jacob Schuck, John McClean, and Leo Kerns were unloading coal at Carnegie Tech when Steenson, it was charged, came by in his car and suggested a drink. The four agreed.

While drinking at a club, however, Steenson, it was said, suddenly whipped out a revolver and ordered the truckers and a bystander, Emanuel Harris, 21, outside. The four were then ordered into their trucks, Harris into Steenson's car.

From the club the caravan moved into the Boulevard of the Allies through the Liberty Tubes for over ten miles and then back again to the tubes with Steenson, police said, darting around the trucks, firing shots into the air and at the tires.

Scared To Death

At one point, where the five were forced to stop for another drink, Steenson managed to blow off one of the tires on Schuck's truck and puncture another, according to the story Harris told police.

Harris, describing his wild ride, said:

"I was scared to death. I was afraid to stay in and also afraid to get out. He would drive around those trucks, fire shots, speed ahead and wait for them to catch up, then repeat the performance. I wouldn't like to go through with that again."

The wild west show came to an end when aroused police caught up with the party at the Liberty tubes where, they said, they found Steenson, with his car and captive trucks lined up across an entrance blocking traffic.

Farley Silent On Third Term For Roosevelt

Thinks That Republicans Will Either Nominate Hoover Or Vandenberg

(International News Service)

BALTIMORE, Nov. 18.—Postmaster General Farley today prophesied the Republican nomination of Herbert Hoover, Alfred M. Landon, Senator Vandenberg "or somebody on that order" in 1940, but was mute on President Roosevelt's third term intentions.

Farley told the Young Democratic clubs of Maryland last night the Republican "do nothing" policy assured continuance of the Democrats in power "for a long time to come." He refrained from speculation on the 1940 Democratic nominee.

His year's tour of the 48 states as Democratic National chairman had convinced him the administration is as popular today as in the 1936 Democratic landslide, Farley said, though he recognized "some grounds."

Says Dionnes Are Worth Half Million Dollars

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The Dionne quintuplets—now 3½ years old—are worth about half a million dollars, Dr. Allan Dafoe, the "country physician" who was present at their birth, told reporters in an interview here Wednesday.

He smilingly remarked, however, that the "quints"—Marie, Emilie, Yvonne, Annette and Cecile—are not "money conscious," adding that all of their assets have been invested in the province of Ontario, Canada.

When they reached the age of one year old their assets were only $8,000, he disclosed. He had no idea what the future would hold for them, and couldn't say whether or not they would become millionaires.

They will make another movie (next May) and, of course, this will add to their fortune. Meantime, every precaution is being taken to rear them so they will be fine, normal girls when they grow up.

Dr. Dafoe, gray-haired, benign-looking and smoking a pipe, talked fondly about the "quints." Their health? Fine. Marie is a couple of pounds under weight but otherwise everything is all right. She only weighed a pound and half when born.

Oh, yes, they still regard him as a "father." They call him "docteur" and "Da-poe." The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne, who live across the street at Callander, Ont., from where the quintuplets are quartered in the Dafoe hospital, are welcome to visit the kiddies at any time.

Christmas Party Plans To Be Made By Service Groups

Representatives of the different organizations planning on participating are urged to be present.

At its peak, the FERA had 5,778,085 workers on its rolls. WPA which employed 2,150,000 in May of this year, never passed the 3,000,000 mark.

Crossed Wires Cause Of Blaze

East Side Home Threatened By Fire At Early Hour This Morning

Fourth ward and B truck companies were called to the home of R. H. McAllen, 831½ Morton street, at 3:40 a. m. today, when electric wires running along the waste pipe in the bathroom became shorted and set fire to the wall. A loss of $50 was sustained, which is covered by insurance. Prompt discovery of the fire prevented a more serious loss.

At 9:07 p. m. Wednesday firemen were called to the home of Ben Bartolino, 1101 Butler avenue, where an overheated furnace had set fire to some boxes filled with ashes, placed too close to the furnace. There was no loss.

At 6 p. m. Wednesday firemen were summoned to the home of E. S. Ecklund, 1051 Beckford street, where fire was found in a clothes closet, the cause of which was not determined. A loss of around $55 was sustained.

Should Not Ape Walk Of Duchess

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 18.—American girls and women should not try to walk like the Duchess of Windsor.

It ruins their health, poise and personality, according to Miss Eileen O'Kane, New York dancing and social director.

"American women," she said today, "are adopting that stoop and side-winding gate employed by the duchess, and this constant and ever-increasing aping is seriously threatening to make this generation a generation of 'furtive walkers'."
